4 Israelis Slain In Arab Attacks

Three Students, Teacher Killed In Synagogue

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector, April 11 (AP)—The Israeli army said Arab commandos burst into a synagogue near Jerusalem tonight and killed three praying students and their teacher.

In all, the army said, four persons were killed and 15 wounded in a series of night attacks.

Government officials denounced them as a new "round of aggression by Egyptian murder forces."

They said the attacks contrasted with a monitored Cairo radio announcement saying 300 commandos had been sent across the Gaza border last week but now had been withdrawn.

The Cairo broadcast was quoted as saying suicide squads had carried out 50 attacks in Israel as a mission of revenge for last week's shelling of Gaza by Israel.

Five attacks were reported during the night in the villages along the highway inland from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem, the army reported. It gave these details:

Two crowded buses moving out of Tel Aviv were fired upon. Authorities said six passengers were wounded.

A husband and wife and their infant child were wounded by a hand grenade thrown into their home at the village of Achieser.

A hand grenade was hurled at two Israelis going home from work near Gan Yawneh, but they escaped injury.

Nasser Hears Peace Plea By Hammarskjold

CAIRO, Egypt, April 11 (AP) — Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser heard Dag Hammarskjold's plea for Arab-Israeli peace and then explained Egyptian views in a 75-minute conference today.

The Moslem world was on the eve of Ramadan, a month of religious significance somewhat resembling the Lent observed by Christians. Moslems fast from sunrise to sunset throughout the 30-day period.

Air raid sirens screamed practice warnings as Hammarskjold entered Nasser's office, dramatizing the urgency of his talks.

A well - informed Egyptian source said the U.N. secretary general submitted to Nasser proposals approved by the Security Council for easing Middle East tension. The Council, in unanimously asking Hammarskjold a week ago to undertake the peace mission, proposed:

1. Withdrawal of rival forces from the armistice demarcation lines.

2. Full freedom of movement for U.N. military observers along these lines, in the demilitarized zones and in the defensive areas of both sides.

3. Establishment of local arrangements forthe prevention of incidents and the prompt detection of any truce violations.

Hammarskjold himself wouldn't say what he talked about and declined to confirm a published story that he had lain before the Egyptians a six-point program envisaging a troop withdrawal and triple fencing along the Egyptian-Israeli border.

Spanish Workers Stage Illegal Strike

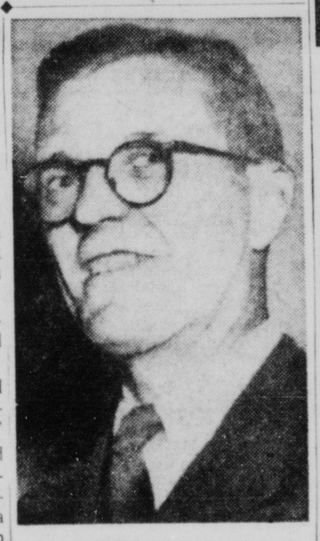

PAMPLONA, Spain, April 11 (AP) —This capital of the ultraconservative Navarra region was crippled today by a peaceful but completely illegal general strike. There were no signs of any early solution.

The strike—involving about 50 per cent of a population of 80,000 —was called for higher wages. The strikers argued that the recent 20 per cent increase in their salaries ordered by the government is insufficient to meet the cost of living.

Some strikers were reported to have presented claims demanding a 50 per cent salary rise. So long as this is not given, they said, they will not resume work.

Senate Rejects Plans For CIA Watchdog Group

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—The Senate, after much talk about whether Congress can keep a secret, today killed a plan to set up a Senate-House committee to keep tabs on the supersecret Central Intelligence Agency.

The proposal, defeated on a 59-27 vote, was strongly opposed by President Eisenhower, who let it be known he feels CIA's activities are too sensitive for such congressional supervision.

Congress does look into CIA affairs through existing committees, however, and this was one argument used by opponents of the defeated proposal.

Supporters contended Congress lacks an adequate check on CIA, despite secret briefings of key members.

Veteran Senate Democrats joined Republican leaders in turning back the resolution, which would have needed the approval of the Senate and House but not the President's signature. It would have created a 12-member group, six from each branch.

The joint committee plan was sponsored by Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) and 34 other senators. Some of the cosponsors turned against the proposal during the debate, however.

One of them, Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) said he was swayed by the argument that secret information would be available to the proposed committee and might leak out.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga) a leading opponent, said his "one disillusionment" about the Senate had been the frequency with which classified material leaked to the press from secret committee sessions.

Mansfield countered with an argument that both former President Hoover and Walter Bedell Smith, retired general and former CIA director, had urged establishment of a congressional watchdog group to check on CIA.

Housewife Declares War On 'Prehistoric' Bathroom

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP)—A suburban New York housewife today declared war on the so-called modern bathroom.

"It is still a relic of the prehistoric age," averred Mrs. W. J. Moore of Pelham Manor.

She has lots of ideas for improvements, and she's all set to carry them before a women's congress on housing in Washington April 23-25.

A number of women throughout the country were invited to the parley by the Housing and Home Finance Agency. It wants women's ideas in preparing new housing standards.

"The great American boo-boo is the bathroom," she declared.

"While hordes of experts have been fussing with the kitchen, poor old mama is still hanging over the bathtub bathing her children in about the same position as her ancestors beating clothes on rocks.

"I'm also sick of the fact that nobody ever built a towel rack that you could dry a towel on.

"The towel rack is built for a folded towel, so what do you do with your towel after using it? You fold it up neatly so you'll have a nice, soggy towel for your next bath—or you spread it out on the radiator.

"Another thing: Now that they have invented all these miracle fabrics, we're back to washing by hand. And where do we wash? We wash in the bathroom. What do we do with wet clothes?

Eisenhower Edges Adlai In Ill. Voting

President Finishes Strong To Capture Popularity Contest

CHICAGO, April 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower drew more votes than Adlai E. Stevenson today in final tabulation of incomplete returns from the Illinois presidential preference primary.

But the race was very, very close—and the result probably caused more concern than celebration among national political strategists.

Gov. William G. Stratton, the state's No. 1 Republican, earned nomination for a second term in a breeze. And Democrat Herbert C. Paschen took his party's gubernatorial nomination without much trouble.

But the preference vote—a popularity contest—didn't jibe with the general pattern.

Eisenhower had nominal opposition on the Republican preference ballot from Sen. William F. Knowland of California, who is supporting the President for a second term, and Lar Daly, a chicagoan who has made several unsuccessful bids for public office.

With only 308 of the state's 9,511 precincts unreported—279 of them downstate—Eisenhower had an over-all total of 723,267, Knowland 32,685, Daly 9,099.

Stevenson appeared alone on the Democratic ballot in his home state. Sen. Estes Kefauver, who was not listed on the ballot and who did not campaign in Illinois, received write-in votes. But his total fell far under the goal of his backers—10 per cent of the Stevenson total.

With only 412 of the state's precincts unreported, including 385 downstate, Stevenson had 703,291. Kefauver received 27,807 write-ins in 8,299 precincts, or less than 5 per cent of Stevenson's total.

Those were the final tabulations. The missing precincts will not be tallied until the official canvass.

But the bulk of the missing precincts were downstate, where Eisenhower had an advantage of better than 2 to 1 in unofficial returns. Stevenson's margin was less than 2 to 1 in Cook County (Chicago), Democratic stronghold.

Associated Press projections indicated that, if there is no change in the vote averages in precincts still unreported the final score will be 755,559 for Eisenhower and 726,964 for Stevenson.

Eisenhower carried Illinois with almost 55 per cent of the vote when he defeated Stevenson in the 1952 presidential election.

Prisoner Dies In Court Gun Battle

ST. LOUIS, April 11 (AP)—A prisoner was shot fatally in a courtroom today as he exchanged gunfire with deputy sheriffs in an escape attempt.

The prisoner was Richard A. Martin, 25, of St. Louis. He fired three shots, all wild.

Martin had been sentenced to a year and a day in the workhouse on grand larceny charges.

He pulled out a pistol and ran into a courtroom where a jury and attorneys were waiting for the start of a trial. Attorney Richard L. Daly said several shots were fired in the corridor before Martin burst into the room.

Deputies fired into the air and jurors ducked for the floor.

As Martin paused to force open a heavy oak door, a shot from a deputy's gun struck him in the head. He died an hour later in City Hospital.

Officials said Martin had concealed the gun in his clothing.

Martin's charges stemmed from thefts at a grocery where he worked.

Gasoline Truck Rams Train And Explodes

Railroad workers labor to clear the Seaboard Air Line tracks after a gasoline transport truck rammed a passenger train near Fort Green, Fla., yesterday. Three Die When Gas Truck Rams Train, Explodes

FORT GREEN, Fla., April 11 (AP) — A gasoline transport truck rammed a nearly empty passenger train today and exploded. The truck driver and two trainmen died of burns.

Clifford Ledger, driver of the Redwing Carriers Inc. truck, and N. G. Adams, 72, express messenger on the train, died in the flaming wreckage. The conductor, L. A. Klosterman, 71, died in a Wauchula hospital several hours later.

All three were from Tampa, about 40 miles northwest of this isolated farming community.

Three Persons Injured

Three others were hurt, one critically.

The loaded transport hit the rear of the engine of the southbound train. It bounced off, then smashed into the two coaches, spraying them with flaming fuel.

"It was the most horrible thing I ever saw," Mrs. Tom Cooper said. Mrs. Cooper, a grocery clerk here, added:

"There was a terrible explosion and the whole train except for the engine caught fire. The truck was just a big sizzling ball of fire after the crash."

One Passenger On Train

The small train, southbound over a branch line between Tampa and Boca Grande, carried only one passenger, Isom Hampton of Ona. He escaped with multiple cuts of the face and body.

William J. Crosby, a Negro porter, suffered critical burns. Herbert Holloway, Negro pullman porter from New York, received lacerations about the hands and lips and is in good condition.

C. B. Gough of Fort Green said he heard the train whistle and saw the truck approach the crossing. Gough said he tried to flag down the driver but Ledger put on the brakes too late.

Amendment Banning Poll Tax Is Sought

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—A Senate Judiciary subcommittee decided today to try to get action at this session of Congress on an antipoll tax amendment to the Constitution.

It would forbid collection of the tax as a requirement for voting in federal elections. States could retain it for state and local elections, if they wished.

To speed the hearings, Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn) of the subcommittee called another session for 10:30 a.m. Friday and asked Sen. Langer (R-ND) to preside. Kefauver is in the midst of his campaign for the Democratic nomination for president.

The only states now requiring a poll tax for voting are Virginia, Alabama, Mississippi, Texas and Arkansas. It used to be a requirement in other Southern states, but several have repealed it by state action.

Dulles Cancels Plan For Island Vacation

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles has canceled a plan to spend next weekend at his vacation island in Lake Ontario. He wants to keep in close touch here with developments in the Middle East crisis.

Aides said today that Dulles had hoped to spend "a few days" at Duck Island, near Watertown, N. Y., but had decided in view of the Middle East situation it would be better if he remained in Washington.

Tycoon's Bond Deals Occupy Graft Probe

WASHINGTON, April, 11 (AP) — Senators searching for graft in Army uniform contracts heard two witnesses testify today they knew nothing about $198,000 worth of bonds purchased in their names by Joey Abrams, a New York garment tycoon.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee has received evidence that Abrams bought about nine million dollars worth of bonds between 1950 and 1953, at a time when he was involved in several big government uniform contracts.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) has announced the subcommittee intends to find out whether any of the bonds were used to bribe Quartermaster Corps officials or as part of an income tax evasion scheme. Abrams bought bonds in his own name and in the names of 27 other persons, some of them alleged to be fictitious.

Attilio Musto, head of Attilio Fashions, Inc., in Brooklyn, and a friend of Abrams, testified he never saw $178,000 worth of bonds purchased in his name by Abrams and was surprised to learn about the deal.

Similar testimony came from Jack Schwartz, a former business associate of Abrams, for whom $20,000 in government bonds ostensibly were bought. Schwartz is now a partner in a valet shop at Great Neck, L. I., N.Y.

Both witnesses said they never asked Abrams why he made the purchases in their names or what he did with the bonds.

The investigators also developed a story about a $40,000 bank account opened in the Leonia Bank & Trust Co., in New Jrsey, by Herman Kravitz, a New Jersey garment maker.

Charles P. Wood, the bank's treasurer, told the subcommittee Kravitz opened the account under the name of E. W. Randal. Wood said he eventually developed "suspicions" about it.

On one occasion, Wood said, a mysterious stranger wearing dark glasses showed up at the bank with $25,000 in bank notes and got a bank draft which finally wound up for deposit to the account of Gregory Harrington & Co. This was a New York bond firm which handled most of Abrams' deals.

Adlai Launches Florida Drive

ORLANDO, Fla., April 11 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson mixed a chatty handshaking tour with a sharp attack on the new Eisenhower Middle East policy as he started an intensive drive today for votes in Florida.

In a speech to Daytona Beach war veterans groups, Stevenson charged that administration policy on the Middle East had brought the United States to the brink of war.

He urged that this country assist Israel with arms to prevent aggression.

The candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination said the new statement of policy "to oppose aggression in the Middle East within constitutional means" was "very disappointing."

The administration pledged earlier this week to support and assist any nation attacked in the Middle East.

It was evident that the returns from yesterday's presidential primary voting in Illinois—where he polled more than 700,000 votes and Sen. Estes Kefauver got only a few thousand write-ins — had pepped up the Stevenson campaign. The former Illinois governor fairly beamed as he stepped along Daytona Beach's oceanfront business section handshaking, signing autographs and posing for candid pictures with various individuals.

Gun-Running Charged

LONDON, April 11 (AP)—Britain has accused Saudi Arabia of large-scale gun-running across the wild frontiers of the Aden protectorate.

The Foreign Office said tonight it had sent a note to King Saud charging that arms and ammunition were being distributed to quick-shooting desert tribesmen with the aim of inciting an anti-British revolt in the protectorate.

Beall, Butler Vote 'No'

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—The 50-35 vote by which the Senate tonight passed the compromise farm bill and sent it to President Eisenhower included:

Democrats for:
West Virginia—Laird, Neely.
Republicans against:
Maryland—Beall, Butler.

Canadian City Hit By Shower Of Men

PRESTON, Ont., April 11 (AP) — A heavy shower of men descended here today.

They were four dozen members of the Canadian regiment making a practice parachute jump aimed at a suburban farm. High winds blew them instead onto roofs, trees, lawns and TV aerials and among startled townspeople.

Four soldiers went to South Waterloo Hospital with minor injuries.

Capehart's Factory Closed By Walkout

INDIANAPOLIS, April 11 (AP) — Sen. Homer E. Capehart's small factory here was closed today by a walkout of 100 United Steel Workers.

Earl Capehart, son of the senator and lawyer for the firm, Packard Manufacturing Co., said, "It is a deliberate, well-planned walkout over nothing." He said the union contract contains a no-strike clause.

The company makes jukeboxes and classified items for the federal government. The senator is board chairman.

Marine Leader Of Death March Gets Mental Test

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C., April 11 (AP)—A drill sergeant who ordered a forced march that resulted in the drowning of six Marine recruits has been given a psychiatric examination, his commanding general reported today.

Maj. Gen. Joseph C. Burger, Parris Island base commander, said he ordered the examination Monday night, the day after S.Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon, 31, of Worcester, Mass., led the party of 78 recruits into a treacherous tidal stream "to teach them discipline."

Results Not Divulged

Burger said the examination was made by Lt. (JG) Charles E. Herlihy, of the Navy Medical Corps psychiatric department. He would not divulge results of the examination. Herlihy will testify before a board of inquiry which is underway on orders of Gen. Randolph McCall Pate, Marine Corps commandant.

Burger told reporters, "I am completely puzzled by the whole thing. I have never known of a comparable situation."

He said McKeon was "well thought of by his superiors and had a reputation as a good drill instructor."

Burger appeared at a press conference during a break in the closed-door meeting of the court of inquiry, which is painstakingly piecing together details of the tragic Sunday night death march.

Survivors Testify

Survivors of the march, many still appearing dazed by their brush with death, went before the court to tell what happened. Their testimony was not disclosed.

Burger said the court is not expected to complete its investigation before the end of the week. Its report will be forwarded to Corps headquarters in Washington.

A post mortem report requested by the court stated that all six of the victims drowned.

One of the survivors told a reporter that McKeon ordered the march as "general disciplinary action." He said it was not aimed at any individual, and that "no particular punishment was involved."

Both Gen. Pate and Gen. Burger said McKeon had no authority to order such a march or to take disciplinary action.

Italian Boats Seized

ANCONA, Italy, April 11 (AP) — Italian sources reported gunboats of the Yugoslav coast guard today swept the eastern Adriatic and forced 20 Italian fishing boats into the Yugoslav port of Subenico.

Eisenhower 'Do-Nothing' President, Truman Says

DES MOINES, April 11 (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman, who has often expressed his sympathy for his successor, turned on President Eisenhower in a political speech tonight and called him a "do-nothing President."

Truman declared that "with presidential leadership, we could have a good farm program." instead, he added, a Democratic Congress has been trying to help the farmer while "the President has been putting road blocks in the way."

Truman recalled he had campaigned in Iowa in 1948 when "a Republican Congress tried to block everything the Democratic President was trying to do for the people."

"This year," Truman said, "the roles are reversed, and it's a Republican President that's causing trouble, instead of a Republican Congress, but the results are just as bad—maybe worse."

The President, Truman said, has been working "hand in glove with Mr. (Secretary of Agriculture) Benson and his mistaken farm policies for three years.

"Gen. Eisenhower has personally been doing all he could to keep Congress from raising support prices farmers get.

"This is one of the most amazing records of political betrayal I have ever seen in all my years of public life."

Truman's address was prepared for delivery at a Jackson Day fund-raising dinner for the Iowa Democratic party. About 800 persons were expected.

Controversial Measure Sent To President

Congress Ignores Veto Threat, Spurns GOP Overhaul Move

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP) — Congress passed its battle-scarred farm bill tonight, handing President Eisenhower one of the worst legislative defeats since he entered the White House.

The election-year measure offers farmers an extra three billion dollars in benefits during this growing season, including high, rigid price supports which Eisenhower opposes.

Many Republican leaders in Congress predicted the President will veto the legislation. Democrats and farm belt Republicans were equally confident he would sign it, some saying he had no other course.

Action on the controversial bill was completed by the Senate, which voted approval shortly after 9:10 p.m. The House passed it 237-181 earlier in the day.

Now the bill goes to the White House for a decision which will echo loudly through the presidential campaign this fall. If Eisenhower refuses to sign it, there may well be no farm relief legislation this year.

Senate Vote 50 To 35

The Senate rollcall vote on passage was 50-35.

It came after the GOP leadership made a last-ditch fight in the House to send the bill back to a congressional Conference Committee for major revisions to make it more acceptable to the administration.

But the leadership failed to keep farm belt Republicans in line in either branch of Congress.

As approved by Congress, the bill virtually plows under much of the Eisenhower agricultural program.

It gives the President the soil bank plan he wants to cut down the production of surplus crops but scraps the flexible price support system he fought for and won after a hard congressional battle two years ago.

In the place of flexible supports, Congress voted to support major crops—wheat, corn, cotton, rice and peanuts—at 90 per cent of parity.

Soil Bank Seen Nullified

The administration contends supports at 90 per cent of parity would nullify the effects of the soil bank, adding to the surplus problem and hurting farmers more than it would help them.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has declared the 1956 bill unacceptable to him.

After the earlier House vote, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the President "still does not think the bill meets the test of a good bill." His statement was made in Augusta, Ga., where Eisenhower is golfing between spells of work.

Just before the Senate vote, Sen. Aiken (R-Vt), senior GOP member of the Agriculture Committee, said the bill was "totally unacceptable to the administration" and urged his colleagues to vote against it.

The key test in the House came on a motion to send the bill back to the Conference Committee for a major overhaul. The motion was defeated on a rollcall vote of 238-181. Republicans broke ranks under election-year pressure and 27 voted against the administration on the test.

Ike Mixes Work With Relaxation

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 11 (AP)—A cold rain interfered with President Eisenhower's golf today, and he ruefully reported still another disappointment — his 8-year-old grandson has the mumps.

Grandson David had been scheduled to arrive in Augusta tomorrow for the weekend, but the mumps washed out the visit. The boy's home is at Ft. Belvoir, Va., near Washington.

The President today mixed more work with relaxation at his vacation headquarters, the Augusta National Golf Club. On the work side he:

1. Signed a bill authorizing construction of a 760-million-dollar system of power dams and irrigation projects in the Upper Colorado River basin.

2. Nominated Livingston T. Merchant, now assistant secretary of state for European affairs, to be ambassador to Canada succeeding R. Douglas Stuart. The resignation of Stuart "for personal and business reasons" was announced by the White House today. The President accepted it with deep regret.

With only 308 of the state's 9,511 precincts unreported—279 of them downstate—Eisenhower had an over-all total of 723,267, Knowland 32,685, Daly 9,099.

Stevenson appeared alone on the Democratic ballot in his home state. Sen. Estes Kefauver, who was not listed on the ballot and who did not campaign in Illinois, received write-in votes. But his total fell far under the goal of his backers—10 per cent of the Stevenson total.

With only 412 of the state's precincts unreported, including 385 downstate, Stevenson had 703,291. Kefauver received 27,807 write-ins in 8,299 precincts, or less than 5 per cent of Stevenson's total.

Those were the final tabulations. The missing precincts will not be tallied until the official canvass.

But the bulk of the missing precincts were downstate, where Eisenhower had an advantage of better than 2 to 1 in unofficial returns. Stevenson's margin was less than 2 to 1 in Cook County (Chicago), Democratic stronghold.

Associated Press projections indicated that, if there is no change in the vote averages in precincts still unreported the final score will be 755,559 for Eisenhower and 726,964 for Stevenson.

Eisenhower carried Illinois with almost 55 per cent of the vote when he defeated Stevenson in the 1952 presidential election.

Prisoner Dies In Court Gun Battle

ST. LOUIS, April 11 (AP)—A prisoner was shot fatally in a courtroom today as he exchanged gunfire with deputy sheriffs in an escape attempt.

The prisoner was Richard A. Martin, 25, of St. Louis. He fired three shots, all wild.

Martin had been sentenced to a year and a day in the workhouse on grand larceny charges.

He pulled out a pistol and ran into a courtroom where a jury and attorneys were waiting for the start of a trial. Attorney Richard L. Daly said several shots were fired in the corridor before Martin burst into the room.

Deputies fired into the air and jurors ducked for the floor.

As Martin paused to force open a heavy oak door, a shot from a deputy's gun struck him in the head. He died an hour later in City Hospital.

Officials said Martin had concealed the gun in his clothing.

Martin's charges stemmed from thefts at a grocery where he worked.

Gasoline Truck Rams Train And Explodes

Railroad workers labor to clear the Seaboard Air Line tracks after a gasoline transport truck rammed a passenger train near Fort Green, Fla., yesterday. Three Die When Gas Truck Rams Train, Explodes

FORT GREEN, Fla., April 11 (AP)—A gasoline transport truck rammed a nearly empty passenger train today and exploded. The truck driver and two trainmen died of burns.

Clifford Ledger, driver of the Redwing Carriers Inc. truck, and N. G. Adams, 72, express messenger on the train, died in the flaming wreckage. The conductor, L. A. Klosterman, 71, died in a Wauchula hospital several hours later.

All three were from Tampa, about 40 miles northwest of this isolated farming community.

Three Persons Injured

Three others were hurt, one critically.

The loaded transport hit the rear of the engine of the southbound train. It bounced off, then smashed into the two coaches, spraying them with flaming fuel.

"It was the most horrible thing I ever saw," Mrs. Tom Cooper said. Mrs. Cooper, a grocery clerk here, added:

"There was a terrible explosion and the whole train except for the engine caught fire. The truck was just a big sizzling ball of fire after the crash."

One Passenger On Train

The small train, southbound over a branch line between Tampa and Boca Grande, carried only one passenger, Isom Hampton of Ona. He escaped with multiple cuts of the face and body.

William J. Crosby, a Negro porter, suffered critical burns. Herbert Holloway, Negro pullman porter from New York, received lacerations about the hands and lips and is in good condition.

C. B. Gough of Fort Green said he heard the train whistle and saw the truck approach the crossing. Gough said he tried to flag down the driver but Ledger put on the brakes too late.

Amendment Banning Poll Tax Is Sought

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—A Senate Judiciary subcommittee decided today to try to get action at this session of Congress on an antipoll tax amendment to the Constitution.

It would forbid collection of the tax as a requirement for voting in federal elections. States could retain it for state and local elections, if they wished.

To speed the hearings, Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn) of the subcommittee called another session for 10:30 a.m. Friday and asked Sen. Langer (R-ND) to preside. Kefauver is in the midst of his campaign for the Democratic nomination for president.

The only states now requiring a poll tax for voting are Virginia, Alabama, Mississippi, Texas and Arkansas. It used to be a requirement in other Southern states, but several have repealed it by state action.

Dulles Cancels Plan For Island Vacation

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles has canceled a plan to spend next weekend at his vacation island in Lake Ontario. He wants to keep in close touch here with developmenis in the Middle East crisis.

Aides said today that Dulles had hoped to spend "a few days" at Duck Island, near Watertown, N. Y., but had decided in view of the Middle East situation it would be better if he remained in Washington.

Tycoon's Bond Deals Occupy Graft Probe

WASHINGTON, April, 11 (AP)—Senators searching for graft in Army uniform contracts heard two witnesses testify today they knew nothing about $198,000 worth of bonds purchased in their names by Joey Abrams, a New York garment tycoon.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee has received evidence that Abrams bought about nine million dollars worth of bonds between 1950 and 1953, at a time when he was involved in several big government uniform contracts.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) has announced the subcommittee intends to find out whether any of the bonds were used to bribe Quartermaster Corps officials or as part of an income tax evasion scheme. Abrams bought bonds in his own name and in the names of 27 other persons, some of them alleged to be fictitious.

Attilio Musto, head of Attilio Fashions, Inc., in Brooklyn, and a friend of Abrams, testified he never saw $178,000 worth of bonds purchased in his name by Abrams and was surprised to learn about the deal.

Similar testimony came from Jack Schwartz, a former business associate of Abrams, for whom $20,000 in government bonds ostensibly were bought. Schwartz is now a partner in a valet shop at Great Neck, L. I., N.Y.

Both witnesses said they never asked Abrams why he made the purchases in their names or what he did with the bonds.

The investigators also developed a story about a $40,000 bank account opened in the Leonia Bank & Trust Co., in New Jrsey, by Herman Kravitz, a New Jersey garment maker.

Charles P. Wood, the bank's treasurer, told the subcommittee Kravitz opened the account under the name of E. W. Randal. Wood said he eventually developed "suspicions" about it.

On one occasion, Wood said, a mysterious stranger wearing dark glasses showed up at the bank with $25,000 in bank notes and got a bank draft which finally wound up for deposit to the account of Gregory Harrington & Co. This was a New York bond firm which handled most of Abrams' deals.

Adlai Launches Florida Drive

ORLANDO, Fla., April 11 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson mixed a chatty handshaking tour with a sharp attack on the new Eisenhower Middle East policy as he started an intensive drive today for votes in Florida.

In a speech to Daytona Beach war veterans groups, Stevenson charged that administration policy on the Middle East had brought the United States to the brink of war.

He urged that this country assist Israel with arms to prevent aggression.

The candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination said the new statement of policy "to oppose aggression in the Middle East within constitutional means" was "very disappointing."

The administration pledged earlier this week to support and assist any nation attacked in the Middle East.

It was evident that the returns from yesterday's presidential primary voting in Illinois—where he polled more than 700,000 votes and Sen. Estes Kefauver got only a few thousand write-ins — had pepped up the Stevenson campaign. The former Illinois governor fairly beamed as he stepped along Daytona Beach's oceanfront business section handshaking, signing autographs and posing for candid pictures with various individuals.

Gun-Running Charged

LONDON, April 11 (AP)—Britain has accused Saudi Arabia of large-scale gun-running across the wild frontiers of the Aden protectorate.

The Foreign Office said tonight it had sent a note to King Saud charging that arms and ammunition were being distributed to quick-shooting desert tribesmen with the aim of inciting an anti-British revolt in the protectorate.

Beall, Butler Vote 'No'

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—The 50-35 vote by which the Senate tonight passed the compromise farm bill and sent it to President Eisenhower included:

Democrats for:
West Virginia—Laird, Neely.
Republicans against:
Maryland—Beall, Butler.

Canadian City Hit By Shower Of Men

PRESTON, Ont., April 11 (AP)—A heavy shower of men descended here today.

They were four dozen members of the Canadian regiment making a practice parachute jump aimed at a suburban farm. High winds blew them instead onto roofs, trees, lawns and TV aerials and among startled townspeople.

Four soldiers went to South Waterloo Hospital with minor injuries.

Capehart's Factory Closed By Walkout

INDIANAPOLIS, April 11 (AP)—Sen. Homer E. Capehart's small factory here was closed today by a walkout of 100 United Steel Workers.

Earl Capehart, son of the senator and lawyer for the firm, Packard Manufacturing Co., said, "It is a deliberate, well-planned walkout over nothing." He said the union contract contains a no-strike clause.

The company makes jukeboxes and classified items for the federal government. The senator is board chairman.

Eisenhower 'Do-Nothing' President, Truman Says

DES MOINES, April 11 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman, who has often expressed his sympathy for his successor, turned on President Eisenhower in a political speech tonight and called him a "do-nothing President."

Truman declared that "with presidential leadership, we could have a good farm program," instead, he added, a Democratic Congress has been trying to help the farmer while "the President has been putting road blocks in the way."

Truman recalled he had campaigned in Iowa in 1948 when "a Republican Congress tried to block everything the Democratic President was trying to do for the people."

"This year," Truman said, "the roles are reversed, and it's a Republican President that's causing trouble, instead of a Republican Congress, but the results are just as bad—maybe worse."

The President, Truman said, has been working "hand in glove with Mr. (Secretary of Agriculture) Benson and his mistaken farm policies for three years.

"Gen. Eisenhower has personally been doing all he could to keep Congress from raising support prices farmers get.

"This is one of the most amazing records of political betrayal I have ever seen in all my years of public life."

Truman's address was prepared for delivery at a Jackson Day fund-raising dinner for the Iowa Democratic party. About 800 persons were expected.

Marine Leader Of Death March Gets Mental Test

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C., April 11 (AP)—A drill sergeant who ordered a forced march that resulted in the drowning of six Marine recruits has been given a psychiatric examination, his commanding general reported today.

Maj. Gen. Joseph C. Burger, Parris Island base commander, said he ordered the examination Monday night, the day after S.Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon, 31, of Worcester, Mass., led the party of 78 recruits into a treacherous tidal stream "to teach them discipline."

Results Not Divulged

Burger said the examination was made by Lt. (JG) Charles E. Herlihy, of the Navy Medical Corps psychiatric department. He would not divulge results of the examination. Herlihy will testify before a board of inquiry which is underway on orders of Gen. Randolph McCall Pate, Marine Corps commandant.

Burger told reporters, "I am completely puzzled by the whole thing. I have never known of a comparable situation."

He said McKeon was "well thought of by his superiors and had a reputation as a good drill instructor."

Burger appeared at a press conference during a break in the closed-door meeting of the court of inquiry, which is painstakingly piecing together details of the tragic Sunday night death march.

Survivors Testify

Survivors of the march, many still appearing dazed by their brush with death, went before the court to tell what happened. Their testimony was not disclosed.

Burger said the court is not expected to complete its investigation before the end of the week. Its report will be forwarded to Corps headquarters in Washington.

A post mortem report requested by the court stated that all six of the victims drowned.

One of the survivors told a reporter that McKeon ordered the march as "general disciplinary action." He said it was not aimed at any individual, and that "no particular punishment was involved."

Both Gen. Pate and Gen. Burger said McKeon had no authority to order such a march or to take disciplinary action.

Italian Boats Seized

ANCONA, Italy, April 11 (AP)—Italian sources reported gunboats of the Yugoslav coast guard today swept the eastern Adriatic and forced 20 Italian fishing boats into the Yugoslav port of Subenico.

Controversial Measure Sent To President

Congress Ignores Veto Threat, Spurns GOP Overhaul Move

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Congress passed its battle-scarred farm bill tonight, handing President Eisenhower one of the worst legislative defeats since he entered the White House.

The election-year measure offers farmers an extra three billion dollars in benefits during this growing season, including high, rigid price supports which Eisenhower opposes.

Many Republican leaders in Congress predicted the President will veto the legislation. Democrats and farm belt Republicans were equally confident he would sign it, some saying he had no other course.

Action on the controversial bill was completed by the Senate, which voted approval shortly after 9:10 p.m. The House passed it 237-181 earlier in the day.

Now the bill goes to the White House for a decision which will echo loudly through the presidential campaign this fall. If Eisenhower refuses to sign it, there may well be no farm relief legislation this year.

Senate Vote 50 To 35

The Senate rollcall vote on passage was 50-35.

It came after the GOP leadership made a last-ditch fight in the House to send the bill back to a congressional Conference Committee for major revisions to make it more acceptable to the administration.

But the leadership failed to keep farm belt Republicans in line in either branch of Congress.

As approved by Congress, the bill virtually plows under much of the Eisenhower agricultural program.

It gives the President the soil bank plan he wants to cut down the production of surplus crops but scraps the flexible price support system he fought for and won after a hard congressional battle two years ago.

In the place of flexible supports, Congress voted to support major crops—wheat, corn, cotton, rice and peanuts—at 90 per cent of parity.

Soil Bank Seen Nullified

The administration contends supports at 90 per cent of parity would nullify the effects of the soil bank, adding to the surplus problem and hurting farmers more than it would help them.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has declared the 1956 bill unacceptable to him.

After the earlier House vote, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the President "still does not think the bill meets the test of a good bill." His statement was made in Augusta, Ga., where Eisenhower is golfing between spells of work.

Just before the Senate vote, Sen. Aiken (R-Vt), senior GOP member of the Agriculture Committee, said the bill was "totally unacceptable to the administration" and urged his colleagues to vote against it.

The key test in the House came on a motion to send the bill back to the Conference Committee for a major overhaul. The motion was defeated on a rollcall vote of 238-181. Republicans broke ranks under election-year pressure and 27 voted against the administration on the test.

Ike Mixes Work With Relaxation

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 11 (AP)—A cold rain interfered with President Eisenhower's golf today, and he ruefully reported still another disappointment — his 8-year-old grandson has the mumps.

Grandson David had been scheduled to arrive in Augusta tomorrow for the weekend, but the mumps washed out the visit. The boy's home is at Ft. Belvoir, Va., near Washington.

The President today mixed more work with relaxation at his vacation headquarters, the Augusta National Golf Club. On the work side he:

1. Signed a bill authorizing construction of a 760-million-dollar system of power dams and irrigation projects in the Upper Colorado River basin.

2. Nominated Livingston T. Merchant, now assistant secretary of state for European affairs, to be ambassador to Canada succeeding R. Douglas Stuart. The resignation of Stuart "for personal and business reasons" was announced by the White House today. The President accepted it with deep regret.

Attack By Mob Of Over 100 Men Planned On Cole

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 11 (AP) —An attack by more than 100 white men had been planned on Negro singer Nat (King) Cole as he sang at the Municipal Auditorium, police said today.

Investigating officers said they had determined that Tuesday's attack, in which six men were arrested, had been planned four days before it took place.

Cole, whose soft renditions of ballads has made him one of the nation's most popular vocalists, was shaken but unhurt when several white men assaulted him across the footlights while he was singing before nearly 4,000 white persons.

Detective C. B. Golden and Detective Sgt. M. H. House said they had determined that the attack was planned at a filling station owned by one of the men from Anniston, Ala.

Officers said they had learned that a mob expected to total 150 men from Annison, Piedmont, Bessmer, Tuscaloosa and the Birmingham area was to join at the auditorium.

"Our information is that they had planned to infiltrate the audience, overpower the band, the police, and anyone else who interferred with them," said Golden. "But the expected mob failed to show."

Cole today canceled three Southern appearances following the attack. The 37-year-old Alabama-born entertainer said, however, that he hopes to sing again in his native state. He made the statement before flying to Chicago for a rest.

First Harbor Tunnel Section Put In Place

BALTIMORE, April 11 (AP) — After many postponements, the first section of the Baltimore Harbor tunnel was lowered into Patapsco River today with Gov. McKeldin supervising the job.

The 300-foot long dual lane tube is one of 21 which will make up the underwater crossing between Fairfield and Canton. Eventually the tunnel and approaches will provide an expressway linking U.S. 301 and 1 on the south with U.S. 40 on the north.

A dozen more of the big tubes are floating in the staging basin and will be lowered soon into the harbor bed.

The tunnel will be 1.7 mile long, with completion expected in December next year.

Hoover Believes Cabinet Should Decide Whether President Incapacitated

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Former President Hoover, ailing with a cold and unable to appear personally, sent Congress a telegram today suggesting ways to assign presidential powers if a chief executive became incapacitated.

Hoover told a House Judiciary subcommittee he believes the Cabinet should decide when the duties of a sidelined president should be taken over temporarily by the vice president.

Such a system, he said, would give assurances that executive responsibility would remain with the party holding the White House.

The subcommittee is studying various proposals to spell out what action should be taken if a president became too ill to carry out his functions or was otherwise incapacitated, if only temporarily. The Constitution's provisions on this subject are vague and no vice president ever has taken over except in case of a president's death.

One proposal, offered by Sen. ayne (RP-Maine), would have the vice president assume the president's duties, though not his title, should the president be temporarily disabled. If the president were unable to notify Congress of his inability to carry on, ayne would have the vice president raise the question. The chief justice then would select a panel of physicians who would make a binding recommendation.

Arguing that the Cabinet should make such a decision, Hoover said this group of presidential advisors would be in intimate contact with the chief executive. In addition, he said, cabinet members would be in a position to know whether there was "any emergency which requires any action beyond the president's abilities."

Grace To Reach Monaco Today

MONTE CARLO, April 11 (AP)—Monaco—its princess-to-be due to arrive within a few hours—was as busy today as a city preparing for a siege.

Both flags and rumors flew, wedding gifts piled up in the palace and squads of workmen and servants rushed to get everything ready for Grace Kelly's festive entry into the principality tomorrow.

For a week thereafter, Monacans and the horde of visitors will be involved in an almost continuous round of gaiety. Monaco is certain to belie the name given it by the ancient Phoenicians—"Place of Rest." Nobody in Monaco is going to relax until a week from tomorrow, when Prince Rainier III and Grace, doubly married in civil and religious ceremonies, will sail away on his yacht for a three-week honeymoon.

Tomorrow the liner SS Constitution is to anchor a few hundred yards off Monaco. If the weather is good—and it has been for several days — the Prince's yacht, gleaming white with new paint, will sidle up to the side of the big ship and take Grace and her family ashore. If the weather is bad, a tough - sided lighter will transfer them from the ship to the yacht.

Youth Gets Life For Boy's Killing

WHEELING, W. Va., April 11 (AP) — Fourteen-year-old Tommy Williams Jr. stopped chewing his bubble gum today long enough to hear a judge sentence him to life in prison for killing a little playmate.

The boy flinched slightly and his mouth dropped open momentarily when Judge David A. McKeen said he'd have to spend the "rest of your natural life" behind bars. He'll be eligible for parole in 10 years.

Tommy, who had absolved his identical twin Josephy of any blame, was convicted of luring 9-year-old David Powell into the coal cellar under the front porch of the Williams home. David then was beaten to death with a brick and a 2 by 4 piece of wood.

The 451 mishaps caused the death of 518 persons.

Reports listed a total of 38,217 auto smashups in the state during 1955, with 6,855 drivers involved.

Sharpsburg Abandons Election Honor System

SHARPSBURG, Md., April 11 (AP) —Sharpsburg is going off the honor system as far as elections are concerned.

It used to be you just gave your name and address and age and voted. Nobody thumbed through election books. They took you at your word.

But Mayor Elmer Koontz says he believes a few non-residents dropped in at the last election.

So for the first time in its history Sharpsburg will register its voters on May 1 and again on August 2 for the September 10 election at this town near the site of the famed Civil War battle of Antietam.

Md. Fair Trade Law Is Upheld

ANNAOLIS, April 11 (AP)—The Court of Appeals today upheld the validity of Maryland's Fair Trade Act and an injunction granted under its provisions against Home Utilities Co. Inc.

Revere Copper and Brass Inc. had obtained the injunction against the retail firm operating in Baltimore, Hagerstown and the District of Columbia to prevent it from selling Revere kitchen utensils below the price set by the manufacturer.

Home Utilities argued that it had not signed any fair trade contract in regard to the Revere products and that the "non-signer" clause in Maryland's act enforcing the law in such cases is unconstitutional.

The high court said it could find "no merit" to the firm's arguments that the act was an unlawful delegation of powers to private persons and referred to previous decisions where it had been held such regulation was within the State's police powers.

It also rejected an argument that the act should be declared void because it originally violated federal anti-trust laws, which were not changed until after enactment of the Maryland law.

The high court said other courts of last resort which had rejected fair trade acts on constitutional grounds "seem to have usually done so because of an unwillingness to accept the legislative judgement as to the economic facts."

Union, Baltimore Transit Reach Tentative Contract

BALTIMORE, April 11 (AP) — Union officials in a surprise announcement today said they have come to terms with the Baltimore Transit Co. in an agreement that could return the State-seized lines to company operation.

The State took over the streetcars and buses March 9 to end a 39-day transit strike and the company has been fighting the recently-enacted seizure law in court.

Frank P. Baummer, president of the transit union, said he had reached a tentative contract in secret meetings with Dale W. Barratt, transit company president, and Federal Mediator Robert Donahoo.

The new proposal will be submitted to the union executive board at a meeting tonight and to the 2,200 union members tomorrow and Friday.

Details of the proposed pact were not disclosed.

Baummer said the meetings with Barratt and Donahoo were set up when he and other union officials became exasperated with the situation resulting from State seizure and court actions.

"We decided we were getting no place in a hurry," Baummer said.

If the agreement is finally approved the State would get out of the transit business by gubernatorial proclamation.

Hoover Believes Cabinet Should Decide Whether President Incapacitated

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Former President Hoover, ailing with a cold and unable to appear personally, sent Congress a telegram today suggesting ways to assign presidential powers if a chief executive became incapacitated.

Hoover told a House Judiciary subcommittee he believes the Cabinet should decide when the duties of a sidelined president should be taken over temporarily by the vice president.

Such a system, he said, would give assurances that executive responsibility would remain with the party holding the White House.

The subcommittee is studying various proposals to spell out what action should be taken if a president became too ill to carry out his functions or was otherwise incapacitated, if only temporarily. The Constitution's provisions on this subject are vague and no vice president ever has taken over except in case of a president's death.

One proposal, offered by Sen. ayne (RP-Maine), would have the vice president assume the president's duties, though not his title, should the president be temporarily disabled. If the president were unable to notify Congress of his inability to carry on, ayne would have the vice president raise the question. The chief justice then would select a panel of physicians who would make a binding recommendation.

Arguing that the Cabinet should make such a decision, Hoover said this group of presidential advisors would be in intimate contact with the chief executive. In addition, he said, cabinet members would be in a position to know whether there was "any emergency which requires any action beyond the president's abilities."

Grace To Reach Monaco Today

MONTE CARLO, April 11 (AP)—Monaco—its princess-to-be due to arrive within a few hours—was as busy today as a city preparing for a siege.

Both flags and rumors flew, wedding gifts piled up in the palace and squads of workmen and servants rushed to get everything ready for Grace Kelly's festive entry into the principality tomorrow.

For a week thereafter, Monacans and the horde of visitors will be involved in an almost continuous round of gaiety. Monaco is certain to belie the name given it by the ancient Phoenicians—"Place of Rest." Nobody in Monaco is going to relax until a week from tomorrow, when Prince Rainier III and Grace, doubly married in civil and religious ceremonies, will sail away on his yacht for a three-week honeymoon.

Tomorrow the liner SS Constitution is to anchor a few hundred yards off Monaco. If the weather is good—and it has been for several days — the Prince's yacht, gleaming white with new paint, will sidle up to the side of the big ship and take Grace and her family ashore. If the weather is bad, a tough - sided lighter will transfer them from the ship to the yacht.

Youth Gets Life For Boy's Killing

WHEELING, W. Va., April 11 (AP) — Fourteen-year-old Tommy Williams Jr. stopped chewing his bubble gum today long enough to hear a judge sentence him to life in prison for killing a little playmate.

The boy flinched slightly and his mouth dropped open momentarily when Judge David A. McKeen said he'd have to spend the "rest of your natural life" behind bars. He'll be eligible for parole in 10 years.

Tommy, who had absolved his identical twin Josephy of any blame, was convicted of luring 9-year-old David Powell into the coal cellar under the front porch of the Williams home. David then was beaten to death with a brick and a 2 by 4 piece of wood.

Drinking Drivers In 140 Of 451 Fatal Accidents

BALTIMORE, April 11 (AP) — Drinking drivers were involved in 140 of Maryland's 451 fatal accidents last year, the State Police Central Accident Bureau reported today.

The 451 mishaps caused the death of 518 persons.

Reports listed a total of 38,217 auto smashups in the state during 1955, with 6,855 drivers involved.

Maryland—Garmatz, Lankford.
West Virginia — Bailey, Byrd, Kee.

Republicans for:

Sharpsburg Abandons Election Honor System

SHARPSBURG, Md., April 11 (AP) —Sharpsburg is going off the honor system as far as elections are concerned.

It used to be you just gave your name and address and age and voted. Nobody thumbed through election books. They took you at your word.

But Mayor Elmer Koontz says he believes a few non-residents dropped in at the last election.

So for the first time in its history Sharpsburg will register its voters on May 1 and again on August 2 for the September 10 election at this town near the site of the famed Civil War battle of Antietam.

Md. Fair Trade Law Is Upheld

ANNAOLIS, April 11 (AP)—The Court of Appeals today upheld the validity of Maryland's Fair Trade Act and an injunction granted under its provisions against Home Utilities Co. Inc.

Revere Copper and Brass Inc. had obtained the injunction against the retail firm operating in Baltimore, Hagerstown and the District of Columbia to prevent it from selling Revere kitchen utensils below the price set by the manufacturer.

Home Utilities argued that it had not signed any fair trade contract in regard to the Revere products and that the "non-signer" clause in Maryland's act enforcing the law in such cases is unconstitutional.

The high court said it could find "no merit" to the firm's arguments that the act was an unlawful delegation of powers to private persons and referred to previous decisions where it had been held such regulation was within the State's police powers.

It also rejected an argument that the act should be declared void because it originally violated federal anti-trust laws, which were not changed until after enactment of the Maryland law.

The high court said other courts of last resort which had rejected fair trade acts on constitutional grounds "seem to have usually done so because of an unwillingness to accept the legislative judgement as to the economic facts."

Union, Baltimore Transit Reach Tentative Contract

BALTIMORE, April 11 (AP) — Union officials in a surprise announcement today said they have come to terms with the Baltimore Transit Co. in an agreement that could return the State-seized lines to company operation.

The State took over the streetcars and buses March 9 to end a 39-day transit strike and the company has been fighting the recently-enacted seizure law in court.

Frank P. Baummer, president of the transit union, said he had reached a tentative contract in secret meetings with Dale W. Barratt, transit company president, and Federal Mediator Robert Donahoo.

The new proposal will be submitted to the union executive board at a meeting tonight and to the 2,200 union members tomorrow and Friday.

Details of the proposed pact were not disclosed.

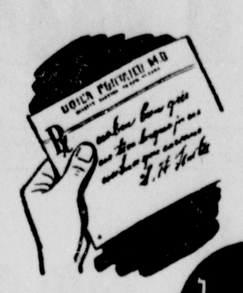

Baummer said the meetings with Barratt and Donahoo were set up when he and other union officials became exasperated with the situation resulting from State seizure and court actions.

"We decided we were getting no place in a hurry," Baummer said.

If the agreement is finally approved the State would get out of the transit business by gubernatorial proclamation.

NEW YORK, April 11 (INS)—The passing show . . .

Cosmopolitan reports that the 68,000,000 working Americans are at leisure nearly one third of the year. Today's workers average 121 days off a year, about three times as much lejsure as was rampant in 1929.

None of the above statistics go for mothers, of course.

Couple friends of mine shared a cab with a guy they had met at a party. The guy announced in a loud voice that things were real tough with him. My friends clucked sympathetically.

"Yeah, real tough, he griped. "Bought a new Jaguar last month—a silver blue job—and I can't take it out of the garage because the weather's been so lousy. And then there's my apartment trouble. I rented a beauty, a duplex on Park Avenue, but I can't move into it because I can't break the lease on my old penthouse on Fifth Avenue, so I'm paying for both places."

At which point he got out of the cab, and the cab driver turned around to my friends and said. "That guy's really got TROUBLE."

Lowell Thomas' "Seven Wonders of the World," the third of the adventure-travelogues in Cinerama, is a film of breathtaking grandeur. To capture it, Thomas and his great staff flew 100,000 miles and touched down in 32 countries. It is by far the most magnificent of the Cinerama productions.

Paul Mantz, the fantastic pilot from whose refitted B25 was photographed the "America, the Beautiful" sequence in the first Cinerama production, did most of the flying in "Seven Wonders."

Fasten seatbelts and don't miss this one.

I seriously wonder if the stage has seen a more gifted musical than "My Fair Lady." The pros on the theatrical pages have left no stop unpulled in showering on this musical "Pygmalion" all the praise words at their command. This is simply an echo of what has been said about Moss Hart's magnificent production. The people don't want to leave the Mark Hellinger theatre after the final curtain. They just sit there, still enthralled, entranced, wanting only to see more and more of Rex Harrison, Julie Andrews, Stanley Holloway and the others. Order your seats now. There are still a few vacancies for 1959.

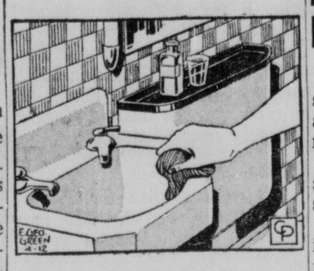

More on Jack Frye's new 4-engined airplane which is making news in the industry because it flies slow. The former head of TWA calls his craft the Safari. It is being built for rough work, to operate from small, unsurfaced airports and haul freight and passengers at very low cost. It lands at 56 mph, cruises at 170, can take off and land in what amounts to jungle clearings.

There was a bit of confusion among the guests at Eva Gabor's wedding to Dr. John Williams the other day. The question was whether to stand or remain seated during the ceremony that was about to take place in the bride's handsome living room. Finally, one old friend of the Gabor family settled things.

"We ALWAYS Stand at Zsa Zsa's weddings, so why not at Eva's?"

Play Equipment Reports Sought

The Recreation Department is sending letters to school principals asking if schools want play equipment installed on the grounds.

Robert E. Pence, director, said some do not want apparatus installed until after school ends.

On non-school playgrounds, similar checks are being made with playground associations.

Pence said children get plenty of use from the play gear after school and in the evenings. On the other hand, he pointed out, where a school playground is small and play space at a premium at recess, the equipment could be a burden.

Six Cases Set For First Day Of Court Term

Six cases are scheduled Monday in Allegany County Circuit Court as the criminal docket for the April term of court gets under way.

One of the six cases slated Monday is a paternity case, another one in which an indictment is still to be placed on the docket. The others are:

State vs. Douglas Eugene Twigg, robbery; State vs. Earl Webster Dolly, rape; State vs. Larry Graham Patton, carnal knowledge, and State vs. Kenneth Cecil Weicht, burglary.

Weicht is charged with the burglary of $109.50 on March 11 from the service station of Orville Blubaugh on Route 40 at the foot of Martin Mountain.

On Tuesday, three other criminal cases have been docketed. One is the State vs. Robert W. Rice, who is charged with practicing dentistry without acquiring a license or registering with the Maryland Board of Dentistry. A second count in the indictment also lists Rice as having on the same date worked on Ivan Lloyd Mills for the purpose of making him a set of false teeth for which he paid $35.

Another case scheduled will be one of the first under a change in the Allegany County alcoholic beverage laws that became effective last June.

That concerns the consumption of liquor or alcoholic beverages after midnight in roadhouses or inns that have no alcoholic beverage license.

Facing an alleged April 1 violation on a charge of allowing three men to drink and consume a quantity of alcoholic beverages in the Elda are George and Frances Boch.

Also to be tried Tuesday is Eugene Paul Peterson on a charge of bigamy.

Youth Injures Ankle

Delmas Fike, 14-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fike, RD 3, Keyser, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital Tuesday for X-ray and observation. The youth injured his right ankle when he fell while playing at home. He is in "good" condition.

Women generally have slightly heavier brains than men in proportion to the size of their bodies.

Griffith Will Head Legion Post

Charles E. Griffith, a World War II veteran, was elected commander of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, at the annual election conducted Monday at the Legion Home. He succeeds Howard P. Loughrie and will be installed, with all the other new officers, on April 24.

Elected first and second vice commanders respectively are Harold W. Davis and William P. Claar.

Russell C. Paupe, unopposed, will again fill the office of adjutant; William C. Coble will be finance office; Rabbi Daniel Lowry, chaplain; William L. Ranck, historian, and Joseph Macon, sergeant at arms.

Elected to the executive committee are Thomas B. Finan, George F. Buskey and Phil Fleming.

Wild rice still is harvested by Minnesota Indians in the same manner as before the white man came.

Six Cases Set For First Day Of Court Term

Six cases are scheduled Monday in Allegany County Circuit Court as the criminal docket for the April term of court gets under way.

One of the six cases slated Monday is a paternity case, another one in which an indictment is still to be placed on the docket. The others are:

State vs. Douglas Eugene Twigg, robbery; State vs. Earl Webster Dolly, rape; State vs. Larry Graham Patton, carnal knowledge, and State vs. Kenneth Cecil Weicht, burglary.

Weicht is charged with the burglary of $109.50 on March 11 from the service station of Orville Blubaugh on Route 40 at the foot of Martin Mountain.

On Tuesday, three other criminal cases have been docketed. One is the State vs. Robert W. Rice, who is charged with practicing dentistry without acquiring a license or registering with the Maryland Board of Dentistry. A second count in the indictment also lists Rice as having on the same date worked on Ivan Lloyd Mills for the purpose of making him a set of false teeth for which he paid $35.

Another case scheduled will be one of the first under a change in the Allegany County alcoholic beverage laws that became effective last June.

That concerns the consumption of liquor or alcoholic beverages after midnight in roadhouses or inns that have no alcoholic beverage license.

Facing an alleged April 1 violation on a charge of allowing three men to drink and consume a quantity of alcoholic beverages in the Elda are George and Frances Boch.

Also to be tried Tuesday is Eugene Paul Peterson on a charge of bigamy.

Youth Injures Ankle

Delmas Fike, 14-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fike, RD 3, Keyser, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital Tuesday for X-ray and observation. The youth injured his right ankle when he fell while playing at home. He is in "good" condition.

Women generally have slightly heavier brains than men in proportion to the size of their bodies.

Griffith Will Head Legion Post

Charles E. Griffith, a World War II veteran, was elected commander of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, at the annual election conducted Monday at the Legion Home. He succeeds Howard P. Loughrie and will be installed, with all the other new officers, on April 24.

Elected first and second vice commanders respectively are Harold W. Davis and William P. Claar.

Russell C. Paupe, unopposed, will again fill the office of adjutant; William C. Coble will be finance office; Rabbi Daniel Lowry, chaplain; William L. Ranck, historian, and Joseph Macon, sergeant at arms.

Elected to the executive committee are Thomas B. Finan, George F. Buskey and Phil Fleming.

Board Suggests 'Bulletin' Plan

Representatives of Local 812, Municipal Employes Union, met with the Civil Service Commission at its meeting Monday at City Hall to discuss seniority rights in regard to night or daytime jobs.

The discussion concerned employes of the Water Department, according to Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk and secretary to the board. Also attending was Simon K. Carroll of the Water Department.

Ullery said the discussion concerned men on night work shifting to day by exercising seniority over younger men. The commission said proper procedure would be to "bulletin" the day job (after a new man's probationary period is completed) to give men with more seniority a chance to improve themselves by taking a day job. A new man serves his probationary period on the day shift, it was pointed out.

Fort Frederick Bicentennial Is Being Planned

William H. Johnson, this city, district forester, will participate in a meeting today at Fort Frederick that will plan the bicentennial celebration of that historic military outpost.

Johnson said the bicentennial will be worked in conjunction with the 50th anniversary of the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks which is being observed this year.

The celebration at the state park location in Washington County between Big Pool and Indian Spring will beld early in May.

Johnson noted that there are 27 species of trees, domestic, European and Japanese, planted at Fort Frederick in one-acre blocks.

Youth Is Sentenced To Two-Year Term

An 18-year-old local boy was sentenced to two years in the Maryland House of Correction yesterday in Juvenile Court.

Magistrate Morris Baron sentenced Bernard E. Beard, of 512 Bedford Street, after finding him guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a minor girl.

Beard was arrested on April 3 by Lt. John Sherry and Officers Leo Law and Harry Iser of the Cumberland Police Department. He has been in custody since that time.

The case was presented by Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney. Peter J. Carpenti represented the boy.

The human brain contains from nine to 15 billion nerve cells and neurons.

Students Plan Variety Show

A variety show is being presented by the Second, Third and Fourth Grades of East Side School for the second time today at 7:30 p. m. in the school auditorium.

Several musical dramatizations by the Second grade, directed by Mrs. Mary Dudley, Miss Martha Payne and Miss Lille Lashley, are on the program. A large chorus from this grade will also participate.

The Third Grade is presenting a western skit. Directors are Mrs. Gladys Arnold and Miss Elizabeth Miller.

The Fourth Grade, under direction of Mrs. Jacquelyn Wolfe and Mrs. Louise Kiifner, will present "Hansel and Gretel."

'Foot Delivery' Of Mail Set On Frederick St.

"Foot delivery" mail service will be provided to the far end of Frederick Street effective July 1, Thomas F. Conlon, postmaster, has informed Mayor Roy W. Eves.

Eves had written Conlon some time ago concerning "to the door" delivery after receiving a letter from Kenneth H. Robertson, 1821 Frederick Street, asking what steps could be taken when sidewalks were completed in the area in connection with the street improvement project.

Conlon said the survey was made by the Post Office district manager out of Baltimore.

The section has been receiving rural service. To get foot delivery, there must be sidewalks and 50 per cent of the street must be built up.

POSA To Initiate

Washington Camp 86, Patriotic Order Sons of America, will hold an initiation in the lodge room at Ellerslie Saturday, April 14, at 6:30 p. m. National and state officers from Baltimore and Philadelphia, plus members of area lodges will be in attendance.

After the business meeting and initiation ceremonies refreshments will be served.

The funeral of President William Henry Harrison, in 1841, was the first to be held in the White House.

Green Stamps Merchandise Store Has Formal Opening

A store where money is no good—hard to believe, but true.

This is the case of Cumberland's newest business establishment, the S&H Green Stamp Store, which officially opened yesterday.

The new store, which deals entirely with Green Stamps, is located in the remodeled quarters at 66-72 North Mechanic Street.

Under the management of Mrs. Adele Stotlemyer, of LaVale, the store carries a complete line of nationally-known merchandise. Items which may be secured at the store include jewelry, electric clocks, luggage, end tables, blankets, silverware, chinaware, glassware, bathroom rugs, toys, sports equipment and hundreds of other articles.

Remodeling of the building started last January, and the formal opening featured free favors.

The interior of the structure was remodeled, and a new glass front installed. Most of the building's front is a large show window.

The store will be open on Mondays from noon to 9 p. m., and Tuesdays through Saturdays from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

A feature of the business is the fact that items obtained there with Green Stamps are available at a wholesale rate.

Mrs. Grace Grimes is assisting Mrs. Stotlemyer in the operation of the business, and Herman Boggs is in charge of the stock rooms.

Cumberland's Green Stamp Store is one of a few located in Maryland, and the only one in Western Maryland.

• Nature's Tornadoes Still Unconquered

The abrupt outburst of the 1956 tornado season, inflicting death, injury and extensive damage in scores of localities in a dozen states, is a rough reminder that man has accomplished little in combating these wild manifestations of nature.

First of all, it might be well to keep the perspective straight. It might surprise the average person to learn that the incidence of tornadoes, area for area, is greater in the District of Columbia than in any other locality in the nation. Several Atlantic Seaboard states have roughly the same incidence as Kansas and Mississippi Valley states, according to a recent authoritative book on tornadoes produced by the University Press of the University of Oklahoma.

Special teams of research specialists at Oklahoma A&M College and Texas A&M College are making an intensive study of tornadoes by use of radar and other electronic devices. Considerable data were gathered during the recent destructive storm at Drumright, Okla., and evaluation is now under way.

The U. S. Weather Bureau, according to announcement in Washington, is putting a converted pursuit plane into action, alerted to fly immediately into localities where tornadoes are brewing, the object being to gather evidence at close range by flying above the disturbance and using modern electronic and other scientific devices in an effort to analyze the causes.

Such observations have been made over recent great hurricane vortices, but tornadoes are more condensed and sometimes more destructive. So it will be a ticklish adventure at best.

In the meantime, thought could be given to the building of shelters in areas in which there is most danger of tornadoes. The best possible refuge is the individual family underground room — "cyclone cellars" the pioneers called them—but some thought might be given also to community shelters like those used in bomb-stricken cities in war areas.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Documents Galore

I am now reading the speeches that were delivered at the 20th Congress of the CPSU, which started all the hub-bub of making a bum out of Stalin. The speeches are long and tiresome. The Russians talk too much. Nobody could ever be elected President of the United States if he made a seven-hour speech. Khrushchev's speech runs 116 pages which is a lot of talk under any circumstance.

It is a labor to little real purpose, perhaps more valuable for a PH.D. than a journalist, because no matter what was said, it brought important changes not only within Russia but in nearly all countries. These speeches are being used as an excuse for more intensive neutralism and have become an embarrassment to such a government as the present one in Great Britain which, in effect, is being invaded by the top-most Russian officials in one of the most brilliantly planned publicity stunts designed to shape world public opinion.

Another document before me is the "Statement on the Findings of the Conference of Privy Councillors on Security." It is not the report that was made to the British government but a summary of it issued to the public as a White Paper. Undoubtedly, the Privy Councillors were appointed to deal with this matter on account of the Burgess and Maclean scandal which can no longer be supressed. It is now known that these two not only acted as Russian agents in Great Britain and the United States, but that they are now employed by the Russian foreign ministry.

The Conference "point out that, whereas once the main risk to be guarded against was espionage by foreign powers carried out by professional agents, to-day the chief risks are presented by Communists and by other persons who for one reason or another are subject to Communist influence. The Communist faith overrides a man's normal loyalties to his country and induces the belief that it is justifiable to hand over secret information to the Communist party or to the Communist foreign power. This risk from Communists is not, however, confined to party members, either open or underground, but extends to sympathisers with communism."

This has been the attitude of American congressional committees since Martin Dies and is called by the Communists, McCarthyism whether spelled with a capital or small m. In the last sentence of the quotation it is assumed that the fellow-traveller is as wicked as the member of the party and the only way to establish a fellow-traveller according to nearly 20 years of investigation, has been by association.

In fact in the sixth paragraph of the report, it is stated:

"One of the chief problems of security to-day is thus to identify the members of the British Communist party, to be informed of its activities and to identify that wider body of those who are both sympathetic to communism, or susceptible to Communist pressure and present a danger to security. Thereafter steps must be taken to see that secret information is not handled by anyone who, for ideological or other motives, may betray it."

While guilty by association always leads to great injustices, it is only right that a government should resolve some doubts in its own favor: what it amounts to is a decision that when in doubt, there should be no employment.

This report was prepared by members of both parties, including Earl Jowitt who wrote a book in defense of Alger Hiss; nevertheless its 15th paragraph contains a statement of the rights of the government over the rights of the individual which almost amounts to a constitutional change in Great Britain:

"The Conference is of the opinion that in deciding these difficult and often borderline cases, it is right to continue the practice of tilting the balance in favour of offering greater protection to the security of the state rather than in the direction of safeguarding the rights of the individual. They recommend that an individual who is living with a wife or husband who is a Communist or a Communist sympathiser may, for that reason alone, have to be moved from secret work, and that the same principle should be applied in other cases of a like nature."

The Russians sure have changed our world even against our wishes. No such statement should have appeared in an official British report two generations ago.

Sen. Kefauver Queried As To Choice Of Vice Presidential Running Mate

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — This week in New Jersey, the vice presidential shoe was on the other foot for Estes Kefauver. Hitherto he has been asked whether he would run for vice president. But at a press conference in Trenton, with Governor Meyner of New Jersey standing somewhat embarrassed beside him, Kefauver was quizzed:

"Will you take Governor Meyner as your vice presidential running-mate, Senator?"

"He's a fine man," parried Kefauver; "and I certainly would take him. But we have a lot of fine leaders in the party, and I think the final choice should be left to the convention."

Just six months ago, mutual friends of Kefauver and Stevenson sounded Adlai out as to whether he would take Kefauver as his running-mate. Stevenson said that he would make no commitment, that there were many fine Democrats who would make good vice presidents, that the matter must be left to the Chicago convention.

He added that if Kefauver ran against him in the primaries and made him go to the expense and trouble of stumping the different states, then he would never take Kefauver for vice president.

Near East War?

Reason for Prime Minister Eden's personal query to President Eisenhower wanting to know exactly how far the United States would go in blocking war in the Near East is the tremendous buildup of Egyptian-Arab forces along the Israeli border.

Both U.S. and British Intelligence have warned their governments that on the basis of this troop concentration, war is likely to explode almost any minute. They even warned, some 60 days ago, that the war deadline was likely to be in April.

Here are the details of the Egyptian-Arab buildup:

Egyptian armed forces began massing in January in the Sinai, south of Israeli's Negev border.

By the end of March, nearly three divisions, fully equipped, were along the border. Stockpiling of munitions started before this to make these divisions independent of Egyptian bases in the Suez.

The armored units include Sherman tanks, Russian tanks, British Centurian tanks and Russian artillery.

Russian artillery has been installed along the Gaza strip.

Egyptian and Saudi Arabian forces have now been almost completely unified. The new British jets which Egypt "sold" to Saudi Arabia will be flown by Egyptian pilots.

A pincers movement from Egypt on one side and Saudi Arabia on the other would catch Israel in between. King Saud recently stated that Saudi Arabia, Syria and Egypt had worked out plans to rescue "bleeding Palestine."

The British have decided to use military force, under certain circumstances, in order to stabilize at least one area of the Near East — Jordan and Iraq. But they have been unable to get any word from either President Eisenhower or Secretary Dulles as to what the United States will do.

NOTE—Reason for the long session between Eisenhower and Dulles — the longest they have ever had together — on the day Ike came back from White Sulphur Springs was the Near East crisis and British pleas for a policy. No policy as yet has been definitely adopted.

FDR'S Sailing Sloop

Today being the anniversary of Franklin Roosevelt's death, it's interesting to note the attitude of current Washington officials regarding a prized memento of the late President which was offered by his son James to the Navy for the midshipmen at Annapolis — namely, FDR's old sailing sloop.

It was while sailing around Nova Scotia as a boy that the late President developed his great love of ships. Later he became assistant secretary of the Navy and, as president, built the Navy up to its greatest strength in all history.

However, Secretary of the Navy Charles Thomas ruled that he didn't want FDR's sloop at the Naval Academy or anywhere else.

The sloop was then offered to the Smithsonian Institution. A sign at the entrance of the Smithsonian reads: "The historical collections of the Smithsonian illustrate the lives and times of American historical personages and the material circumstances of the periods during which they lived."

However, the Smithsonian turned FDR's sloop down—for reasons of space.

Following this, I happened to be at the Smithsonian, actually not to check on its space, but because my grandsons wanted to see all its relics.

Among the assortment of trophies I noted: eight Eskimo kayaks, about the same size as the Roosevelt sloop; fourteen dugout canoes; a lengthy model of the SS Mauretania, which is British; of the SS Statendam, which is Dutch; of the SS Empress of Russia, which is Canadian.

But the payoff was a model of the SS Pilsudski of the Polish Gdynia-American Line, now Communist.

NOTE — Another space-consuming exhibit in the Smithsonian was dedicated to Samuel Langley, its secretary between 1887-1906. The exhibit featured: academic robe, two hoods, two academic caps, two pictures of Langley, four Rumford medals, juror's badge of the Paris Exhibition of 1900; medal of Les Exercises Physiques et Sports of Paris Exposition of 1900; Jansen prize medal of French Academy; Jansen medal of Astronomical Society of France; commemorative medal of Montispessulani University, Italy; commemorative medal of Omaha Exposition of 1898; Henry Draper gold medal; commemorative medal of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition of 1904.

Proposed Law May Endanger State Government

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Ever since the founding of the American republic it has been the exclusive right of the states to maintain law and order—to exercise police powers within their own borders—and the federal government has not interfered.

But the Department of Justice now proposes to Congress that laws be enacted giving the federal government the right to police federal elections, determine who shall or shall not vote, and decide also whether citizens are "being subjected to unwarranted economic pressures by reason of their color, race, religion, or national origin."

Broadened Authority

If the Congress has a right under the Constitution to pass such laws, then the federal government also can ignore the state and local machinery of law enforcement and punish violence at the factory gate.

The labor unions have consistently fought against the use of the federal power to punish coercion or intimidation in labor-union elections. The only penalty today is a "cease and desist" order upon a labor union. This is meaningless. For if violence in strikes occurs or if workers are intimidated, the federal government keeps hands off.

Now, however, under the principle contained in proposed legislation, the Department of Justice could get the power to prosecute such offenders, since civil rights certainly are involved. It will be recalled that a few years ago a number of labor unions entered into a conspiracy to stop the publication of most of the daily newspapers in New York City. The Department of Justice refused to prosecute them, even though the First Amendment to the Constitution was involved. The labor unions themselves had been given legal status by the Taft-Hartley Law, and their acts as labor unions were derived from federal authority.

Aimed At Race Friction

If the legislation now recommended by the Department of Justice to punish persons who exert "unwarranted economic pressure" is passed, it will be a short step to the broadening of the federal power to police all labor-union activities, especially those which up to now have been considered exclusively in the domain of city police departments or the offices of sheriffs in county governments.

The new proposals, of course, are aimed at race friction and are designed to prevent interference with voting by Negroes in the South and to deal with economic measures taken against them. But what is "unwarranted economic pressure?" If the federal government assumes the right to arrest and indict and try persons who use "economic pressure," it will be a difficult thing to keep the same police powers from being exercised also in labor-union elections.

Today a citizen loses his rights under the Constitution—the right to believe as he pleases about labor unions—if he wants to keep a job in a so-called "union shop." Compulsory unionization is the law of the land today, though the Supreme Court of the United States has never specifically ruled on the validity of such compulsion.

It is strange that the Department of Justice doesn't show any interest in protecting the right of a man to keep his job or to get a job unless he is willing to yield to economic pressure and give up the political and economic beliefs guaranteed him by the Constitution.

Proposal Not Novel

The proposal to regulate elections for federal offices and let the federal government exercise power to review the work of local election boards is not novel. It has been urged for some time as a means of protecting the rights of minorities. It has been advanced, too, in Northern states as a means of regulating employment. It means that an employer who doesn't hire exactly the same number of Swedes, for example, as he does Norwegians could be punished for discrimination on the basis of "national origin." It means the same principles could be extended so that, if an employer who is himself a Protestant wants to hire only Protestants or if a Catholic employer wants to hire only Catholics, he would be subject to penalty under federal laws for discrimination in hiring.

The new proposal opens up a Pandora's box of troubles for the states and could mark the beginning of the end of state government in America and the building of a strong centralized government with complete control over all matters hitherto believed to be solely in the domain of the state, city and county governments.

How It Happened

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Arthur "Bugs" Baer is the originator of some of America's most-often-repeated sayings. In the absence of his regular column—"Baering Down On the News"—because of his illness, The Cumberland News is presenting Baer's own explanations of how he came to coin some of the more famous of his sayings.

"Washington fiddles while Byrnes roams."

This line is what you might call a double acrostic with intent to defraud.

Naturally, it's a twist on the evening when Nero gave Rome the hotfoot. But it had ominous overtones because Washington was shaking the tablecloth out of the window while the diplomatic James F. Byrnes was losing more ground than our Western Indians.

I topped this double booboo with a three-bagger when a well-tailored movie actor named Stone was appearing in more pictures than the MGM lion.

He played murdered bankers, rich uncles, benevolent judges, retired financiers and chairmen of parole boards.

The triple-theater was, "he who is with cinema, let him cast Stone first."

The language mechanics at Harvard and Notre Dame tell me there are only about a half dozen of these three-baggers in the whole history of the English language.

However, I'll settle for "Washington fiddles while Byrnes roams."It described the situation to a "T" and crossed it.

Ike And The Farm Bill

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

Before the gas bill fight was settled, and before the President announced his decision to run again, Sen. Hubert Humphrey, Democrat of Minnesota, made a prediction in the Senate lobby. "Ike will veto the gas bill," Humphrey said, "he'll sign the farm bill, he'll run for a second term, and he'll beat the living daylights out of us."

Humphrey has a penetrating voice, and the Humphrey prediction was relayed to the President himself not long thereafter. The President, when he heard it, laughed long and loud, and then proceeded to give the Minnesota senator a 50 per cent score by vetoing the gas bill and announcing his decision to run. It will be interesting to see whether he gives Humphrey a 75 per cent score by signing the farm bill in the next few days.

Last Gasp Effort

On Monday, at a White House conference, the President participated personally in the decision to make a last gasp effort in the House to force through an acceptable compromise bill. If the effort succeeds, which is unpredictable at the moment of writing, the President of course will sign. But if the effort fails, the President will be faced with a rather nasty choice.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson has publicly labelled the bill as it now stands "unacceptable." The President himself has been careful not to commit himself finally. But there is no question about the way he feels about rigid 90 per cent of parity, as well as a number of other aspects of the bill.

In fact, there is probably not another issue of domestic policy on which the President feels more strongly. His brother, Milton Eisenhower, is generally given credit or, among farm state Republicans, blame for persuading the President that the rigid parity system is self-defeating and ruinous in the long run.

On the parity issue, the President has unflinchingly supported his secretary of agriculture, although he is fully aware that Benson would win no popularity contests in the farm area. Yet the political dangers inherent in a presidential veto of the farm bill are very real and very menacing.

Rayburn Has Way

The Minnesota and Wisconsin primaries—especially the former—heavily underscored those dangers. Before Minnesota, it seemed possible that some sort of face-saving formula, short of rigid 90 per cent of parity, might be agreed on in conference. Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson inclined to such a formula. But when House Speaker Sam Rayburn read the Minnesota returns, he insisted that 90 per cent of parity be retained, and he had his way.

The Democratic strategy is, of course, to get a bill including rigid supports on the President's desk and, if he vetoes, to make the farm issue the main issue of the campaign. From one end of the country to another, the President will be belabored for indifference to the farmer's plight, and his famous Kasson, Minn., speech, in which he seemed to promise high supports, will be gleefully recalled from every Democratic hustings.

Some Democrats believe, or profess to believe, that the President might actually suffer the same fate as Thomas E. Dewey in 1948, if he vetoes the farm bill. By the same token, as Hubert Humphrey's mournful prediction suggests, a Presidential signature on a high supports farm bill would rob the Democrats of about the last really powerful issue they have left.

Signing such a bill would also greatly help threatened Republican candidates in the farm areas, like Sens. Capehart of Indiana and Dirksen of Illinois. And if Secretary Benson resigned in protest, as some of his friends think he would do, that would be something less than a political disaster for the administration and the Republican party.

Pressures Will Be Heavy

It is easy to see why the pressure on the President to sign the farm bill under any circumstances will be very heavy indeed. But there will also be persuasive voices favoring a veto, including not only Benson and brother Milton but, reportedly, Sherman Adams, powerful White House chief of staff. One pro-veto argument is that the political curse can be taken off a veto by a concurrent decision by Benson to raise parity levels sharply, which Benson has the legal authority to do.

All in all, it will be remarkably interesting to see how the President resolves the personal and political dilemma which will confront him, if the drive to force an acceptable compromise on the farm bill fails.

Buerger's Disease Linked To Young Male Smokers

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many individuals with poor circulation believe they have Buerger's disease (thromboangiitis obliterans) but the majority are wrong in their opinion. This misbelief stems from the time when Buerger's disease was synonymous with poor circulation. Buerger's is uncommon and occurs almost exclusively in young men.

Symptoms are the same as in hardening of the arteries, which is 10 times more prevalent. But since arteriosclerosis implies old age, this diagnosis is not nearly so popular. Another misconception was that the disorder was limited to Hebrews of Polish and Russian origin. But when the Mayo Clinic found that many of their Buerger patients were of Swedish origin, it became obvious that the malady was not restricted to one ethnic group.

But one thing is certain: Buerger's disease is related to tobacco. I have never seen the ailment in a nonsmoker nor have I known anyone who recovered if smoking was continued. To the best of our knowledge, smoking aggravates but does not cause the ailment.

The sex also enters the picture because 99 per cent of the victims are men. My only woman patient with Buerger's had been smoking since the age of 9. Symptoms begin when the disease process plugs the leg arteries. In this respect, the effect on the tissues is the same as that produced by arteriosclerosis, which begins later in life.

The extremities are cold and there is vague discomfort in and about the toes, arches, and ankles. Many also develop intermittent claudication, or cramping in one calf after walking a block or two. Distress disappears on halting for a few moments but returns on walking an equal distance.

More severe involvement leads to continuous pain in toes, foot or leg. The affected part is tender to the touch and the sufferer sits in a chair, fondling the bloodless part. At this stage, the extremity is on the brink of becoming gangrenous and the slightest mistake may be all that is necessary to push it over.

In addition to giving up smoking, the patient must practice good foot hygiene. Any trauma such as a cut, blister, or bruise may precipitate gangrene. The physician will institute various procedures to improve circulation. These include the administration of drugs like papaverine, hexamethonium, niacin, or the citrates to dilate the arteries. Typhoid injections help by raising body temperature, thereby bringing more blood to the surface. Sympathectomy, the nerve cutting operation, also increases the blood flow.

TOMORROW: What's new?

MURMURS AND LEAKS

T. C. writes: Are heart murmur, leaky valves, and heart leakage all the same?

REPLY

No. Leakage is due to scarring or deformity of the valves and when the physician listens over the chest he finds the normal heart tones replaced by typical murmurs. On the other hand, not all murmurs indicate a damaged or leaky valve. These peculiar sounds may stem from the rubbing of the heart against the lungs or from hemodynamic changes in the flow of blood.

EAR NOISES

D. T. writes: What is the medical term for hissing ears?

REPLY

Tinnitus is the medical term denoting ringing or hissing ears. Our leaflet on the subject, which may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope, explains the condition more fully.

INCREASING PEP

Mrs. P. writes: How can a young female develop more vitality?

REPLY

The old-time family doctor usually recommended marriage and a family. I agree but also suggest following the rules of good hygiene to the letter: Getting eight or more hours of sleep, eating balanced meals, and obtaining adequate exercise and recreation. I presume this girl is not being overworked and that she does not have an organic or a functional disease that is contributing to fatigue or lack of pep.

CHANGE OF POSTURE

S. J. writes: I'm dizzy on lying down and getting up. But I'm not dizzy at other times. What could this be due to?

REPLY

The effect of gravity on circulation to the brain. This symptom is common in oldsters because the reflexes that increase the flow of blood to the brain on changing posture are not as active as in younger years.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellan will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

Two patients in a compassionately run nut house were comparing ailments. "I'd be all right," mourned one, "if I didn't have a hole in my head."

"You're lucky," disputed the other. "I have two holes in my head."

"Ba-a-ah," grunted Number One. "You and your holier-than-thou attitude!"

The theatrical world has its special names for the head-pieces actors favor to hide bald pates. A smallish toupee is called "a doily" and a big one, "a rug." One actor is so completely bald he declares he needs "wall-to-wall carpeting."

• Nature's Tornadoes Still Unconquered

The abrupt outburst of the 1956 tornado season, inflicting death, injury and extensive damage in scores of localities in a dozen states, is a rough reminder that man has accomplished little in combating these wild manifestations of nature.

First of all, it might be well to keep the perspective straight. It might surprise the average person to learn that the incidence of tornadoes, area for area, is greater in the District of Columbia than in any other locality in the nation. Several Atlantic Seaboard states have roughly the same incidence as Kansas and Mississippi Valley states, according to a recent authoritative book on tornadoes produced by the University Press of the University of Oklahoma.

Special teams of research specialists at Oklahoma A&M College and Texas A&M College are making an intensive study of tornadoes by use of radar and other electronic devices. Considerable data were gathered during the recent destructive storm at Drumright, Okla., and evaluation is now under way.

The U. S. Weather Bureau, according to announcement in Washington, is putting a converted pursuit plane into action, alerted to fly immediately into localities where tornadoes are brewing, the object being to gather evidence at close range by flying above the disturbance and using modern electronic and other scientific devices in an effort to analyze the causes.

Such observations have been made over recent great hurrieane vortices, but tornadoes are more condensed and sometimes more destructive. So it will be a ticklish adventure at best.

In the meantime, thought could be given to the building of shelters in areas in which there is most danger of tornadoes. The best possible refuge is the individual family underground room — "cyclone cellars" the pioneers called them—but some thought might be given also to community shelters like those used in bomb-stricken cities in war areas.

These Days

Documents Galore

I am now reading the speeches that were delivered at the 20th Congress of the CPSU, which started all the hub-bub of making a bum out of Stalin. The speeches are long and tiresome. The Russians talk too much. Nobody could ever be elected President of the United States if he made a seven-hour speech. Khrushchev's speech runs 116 pages which is a lot of talk under any circumstance.

It is a labor to little real purpose, perhaps more valuable for a PH.D. than a journalist, because no matter what was said, it brought important changes not only within Russia but in nearly all countries. These speeches are being used as an excuse for more intensive neutralism and have become an embarrassment to such a government as the present one in Great Britain which, in effect, is being invaded by the top-most Russian officials in one of the most brilliantly planned publicity stunts designed to shape world public opinion.

Another document before me is the "Statement on the Findings of the Conference of Privy Councillors on Security." It is not the report that was made to the British government but a summary of it issued to the public as a White Paper. Undoubtedly, the Privy Councillors were appointed to deal with this matter on account of the Burgess and Maclean scandal which can no longer be supressed. It is now known that these two not only acted as Russian agents in Great Britain and the United States, but that they are now employed by the Russian foreign ministry.

The Conference "point out that, whereas once the main risk to be guarded against was espionage by foreign powers carried out by professional agents, to-day the chief risks are presented by Communists and by other persons who for one reason or another are subject to Communist influence. The Communist faith overrides a man's normal loyalties to his country and induces the belief that it is justifiable to hand over secret information to the Communist party or to the Communist foreign power. This risk from Communists is not, however, confined to party members, either open or underground, but extends to sympathisers with communism."

This has been the attitude of American congressional committees since Martin Dies and is called by the Communists, McCarthyism whether spelled with a capital or small m. In the last sentence of the quotation it is assumed that the fellow-traveller is as wicked as the member of the party and the only way to establish a fellow-traveller according to nearly 20 years of investigation, has been by association.

In fact in the sixth paragraph of the report, it is stated:

"One of the chief problems of security to-day is thus to identify the members of the British Communist party, to be informed of its activities and to identify that wider body of those who are both sympathetic to communism, or susceptible to Communist pressure and present a danger to security. Thereafter steps must be taken to see that secret information is not handled by anyone who, for ideological or other motives, may betray it."

While guilty by association always leads to great injustices, it is only right that a government should resolve some doubts in its own favor; what it amounts to is a decision that when in doubt, there should be no employment.

This report was prepared by members of both parties, including Earl Jowitt who wrote a book in defense of Alger Hiss; nevertheless its 15th paragraph contains a statement of the rights of the government over the rights of the individual which almost amounts to a constitutional change in Great Britain:

"The Conference is of the opinion that in deciding these difficult and often borderline cases, it is right to continue the practice of tilting the balance in favour of offering greater protection to the security of the state rather than in the direction of safeguarding the rights of the individual. They recommend that an individual who is living with a wife or husband who is a Communist or a Communist sympathiser may, for that reason alone, have to be moved from secret work, and that the same principle should be applied in other cases of a like nature."

The Russians sure have changed our world even against our wishes. No such statement should have appeared in an official British report two generations ago.

How It Happened

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Arthur "Bugs" Baer is the originator of some of America's most-often-repeated sayings. In the absence of his regular column—"Baering Down On the News"—because of his illness, The Cumberland News is presenting Baer's own explanations of how he came to coin some of the more famous of his sayings.

"Washington fiddles while Byrnes roams."

This line is what you might call a double acrostic with intent to defraud.

Naturally, it's a twist on the evening when Nero gave Rome the hotfoot. But it had ominous overtones because Washington was shaking the tablecloth out of the window while the diplomatic James F. Byrnes was losing more ground than our Western Indians.

I topped this double booboo with a three-bagger when a well-tailored movie actor named Stone was appearing in more pictures than the MGM lion.

He played murdered bankers, rich uncles, benevolent judges, retired financiers and chairmen of parole boards.

The triple-theater was, "he who is with cinema, let him cast Stone first."

The language mechanics at Harvard and Notre Dame tell me there are only about a half dozen of these three-baggers in the whole history of the English language.

However, I'll settle for "Washington fiddles while Byrnes roams."It described the situation to a "T" and crossed it.

Ike And The Farm Bill

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

Before the gas bill fight was settled, and before the President announced his decision to run again, Sen. Hubert Humphrey, Democrat of Minnesota, made a prediction in the Senate lobby. "Ike will veto the gas bill." Humphrey said, "he'll sign the farm bill, he'll run for a second term, and he'll beat the living daylights out of us."

Humphrey has a penetrating voice, and the Humphrey prediction was relayed to the President himself not long thereafter. The President, when he heard it, laughed long and loud, and then proceeded to give the Minnesota senator a 50 per cent score by vetoing the gas bill and announcing his decision to run. It will be interesting to see whether he gives Humphrey a 75 per cent score by signing the farm bill in the next few days.

Last Gasp Effort

On Monday, at a White House conference, the President participated personally in the decision to make a last gasp effort in the House to force through an acceptable compromise bill. If the effort succeeds, which is unpredictable at the moment of writing, the President of course will sign. But if the effort fails, the President will be faced with a rather nasty choice.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson has publicly labelled the bill as it now stands "unacceptable." The President himself has been careful not to commit himself finally. But there is no question about the way he feels about rigid 90 per cent of parity, as well as a number of other aspects of the bill.

In fact, there is probably not another issue of domestic policy on which the President feels more strongly. His brother, Milton Eisenhower, is generally given credit or, among farm state Republicans, blame for persuading the President that the rigid parity system is self-defeating and ruinous in the long run.

On the parity issue, the President has unflinchingly supported his secretary of agriculture, although he is fully aware that Benson would win no popularity contests in the farm area. Yet the political dangers inherent in a presidential veto of the farm bill are very real and very menacing.

Rayburn Has Way

The Minnesota and Wisconsin primaries—especially the former—heavily underscored those dangers. Before Minnesota, it seemed possible that some sort of face-saving formula, short of rigid 90 per cent of parity, might be agreed on in conference. Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson inclined to such a formula. But when House Speaker Sam Rayburn read the Minnesota returns, he insisted that 90 per cent of parity be retained, and he had his way.

The Democratic strategy is, of course, to get a bill including rigid supports on the President's desk and, if he vetoes, to make the farm issue the main issue of the campaign. From one end of the country to another, the President will be belabored for indifference to the farmer's plight, and his famous Kasson, Minn., speech, in which he seemed to promise high supports, will be gleefully recalled from every Democratic hustings.

Some Democrats believe, or profess to believe, that the President might actually suffer the same fate as Thomas E. Dewey in 1948, if he vetoes the farm bill. By the same token, as Hubert Humphrey's mournful prediction suggests, a Presidential signature on a high supports farm bill would rob the Democrats of about the last really powerful issue they have left.

Signing such a bill would also greatly help threatened Republican candidates in the farm areas, like Sens. Capehart of Indiana and Dirksen of Illinois. And if Secretary Benson resigned in protest, as some of his friends think he would do, that would be something less than a political disaster for the administration and the Republican party.

Pressures Will Be Heavy

It is easy to see why the pressure on the President to sign the farm bill under any circumstances will be very heavy indeed. But there will also be persuasive voices favoring a veto, including not only Benson and brother Milton but, reportedly, Sherman Adams, powerful White House chief of staff. One pro-veto argument is that the political curse can be taken off a veto by a concurrent decision by Benson to raise parity levels sharply, which Benson has the legal authority to do.

All in all, it will be remarkably interesting to see how the President resolves the personal and political dilemma which will confront him, if the drive to force an acceptable compromise on the farm bill fails.

Buerger's Disease Linked To Young Male Smokers

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many individuals with poor circulation believe they have Buerger's disease (thromboangiitis obliterans) but the majority are wrong in their opinion. This misbelief stems from the time when Buerger's disease was synonymous with poor circulation. Buerger's is uncommon and occurs almost exclusively in young men.

Symptoms are the same as in hardening of the arteries, which is 10 times more prevalent. But since arteriosclerosis implies old age, this diagnosis is not nearly so popular. Another misconception was that the disorder was limited to Hebrews of Polish and Russian origin. But when the Mayo Clinic found that many of their Buerger patients were of Swedish origin, it became obvious that the malady was not restricted to one ethnic group.

But one thing is certain: Buerger's disease is related to tobacco. I have never seen the ailment in a nonsmoker nor have I known anyone who recovered if smoking was continued. To the best of our knowledge, smoking aggravates but does not cause the ailment.

The sex also enters the picture because 99 per cent of the victims are men. My only woman patient with Buerger's had been smoking since the age of 9. Symptoms begin when the disease process plugs the leg arteries. In this respect, the effect on the tissues is the same as that produced by arteriosclerosis, which begins later in life.

The extremities are cold and there is vague discomfort in and about the toes, arches, and ankles. Many also develop intermittent claudication, or cramping in one calf after walking a block or two. Distress disappears on halting for a few moments but returns on walking an equal distance.

More severe involvement leads to continuous pain in toes, foot or leg. The affected part is tender to the touch and the sufferer sits in a chair, fondling the bloodless part. At this stage, the extremity is on the brink of becoming gangrenous and the slightest mistake may be all that is necessary to push it over.

In addition to giving up smoking, the patient must practice good foot hygiene. Any trauma such as a cut, blister, or bruise may precipitate gangrene. The physician will institute various procedures to improve circulation. These include the administration of drugs like papaverine, hexamethonium, niacin, or the citrates to dilate the arteries. Typhoid injections help by raising body temperature, thereby bringing more blood to the surface. Sympathectomy, the nerve cutting operation, also increases the blood flow.

TOMORROW: What's new?

MURMURS AND LEAKS

T. C. writes: Are heart murmur, leaky valves, and heart leakage all the same?

REPLY

No. Leakage is due to scarring or deformity of the valves and when the physician listens over the chest he finds the normal heart tones replaced by typical murmurs. On the other hand, not all murmurs indicate a damaged or leaky valve. These peculiar sounds may stem from the rubbing of the heart against the lungs or from hemodynamic changes in the flow of blood.

EAR NOISES

D. T. writes: What is the medical term for hissing ears?

REPLY

Tinnitus is the medical term denoting ringing or hissing ears. Our leaflet on the subject, which may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope, explains the condition more fully.

INCREASING PEP

Mrs. P. writes: How can a young female develop more vitality?

REPLY

The old-time family doctor usually recommended marriage and a family. I agree but also suggest following the rules of good hygiene to the letter: Getting eight or more hours of sleep, eating balanced meals, and obtaining adequate exercise and recreation. I presume this girl is not being overworked and that she does not have an organic or a functional disease that is contributing to fatigue or lack of pep.

CHANGE OF POSTURE

S. J. writes: I'm dizzy on lying down and getting up. But I'm not dizzy at other times. What could this be due to?

REPLY

The effect of gravity on circulation to the brain. This symptom is common in oldsters because the reflexes that increase the flow of blood to the brain on changing posture are not as active as in younger years.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellan will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Two patients in a compassionately run nut house were comparing ailments. "I'd be all right," mourned one, "if I didn't have a hole in my head."

"You're lucky," disputed the other. "I have two holes in my head."

"Ba-a-ah," grunted Number One. "You and your holier-than-thou attitude!"

Plant Expects Full Operation In Three Weeks

MT. SAVAGE—The Robbon Copies Corporation plant here is under partial operation and will be in full production within three weeks.

The progress report was made yesterday by Nicholas Manolovich, president of Nichlas Machine Works, which is the production plant.

There are 18 employes making parts and assembling Copeez, the attachment for typewriters that eliminates the use of carbon paper for copies. The device allows direct ribbon copies on all the reproductions.

The number of workers will gradually be increased during the next three weeks, Manolovich reported, as part production and final assembly becomes near the 1,000-unit mark.

Manolovich said the plant will be aiming for a production goal of 1,000 by the end of the next three weeks.

The president of the machine works which operated for many years in New York before being moved to Mt. Savage said operations have been held up due to the extensive remodeling of the plant in the old C&P shops.

The old railroad machine shop has been converted to a modern machine works where Copeez parts are being made. A new concrete floor was laid, the ceiling lowered and a gas heating system installed.

The old blacksmith shop has been remodeled into a final assembly plant.

The railroad fabricating shop has been made into a spray painting shop.

Manolovich reported that Ribbon Copies Corporation has ordered additional manufacturing equipment to provide for greater production than had been originally planned.

Manolovich explained that all the contractors hired to remodel the big stone buildings have completed their work and Ribbon Copies may now concentrate on production matters.

He added that employes that will be added during the next few weeks will have to be given training in the manufacture of the Copeez and its parts.

PE Is Offered 50-Year Plan By Piedmont

Fees Listed In New Franchise

PIEDMONT—This town has offered to renew its franchise with the Potomac Edison Company for the use of their poles and equipment for 50 years. The company will pay the city $100 for the first hundred poles, and 75 cents for each additional pole.

The town will be paid for all poles within the corporate limits, whether on city or private property, and there are 169 poles in all. The city will receive an annual fee of $147.50 from the power company.

At a recent special meeting of the Town Council with Horace P. Whitworth of Westernport, counsel for the Potomac Edison Company, the council made a counter proposal asking $2.50 per pole and that the franchise which expires July 23 be renewed only for 30 years instead of 50 as requested by the company.

Whitworth stated that he did not have the power to act but would consult the PE and report back at another special meeting, Monday evening.

The meeting was opened by the proposal of the company by Attorney Whitworth, followed by D. E. Stultz, Hagerstown, vice president of the company, who pointed out the importance of the longer franchise in borrowing money, explaining the firm was able to obtain a better interest rate on the money they have borrowed for the $20,000,000 program now in progress.

As the rate of $1 per pole for the first 100 poles and 75 cents for each additional pole is the same paid other towns, Whitworth said the firm felt if it would pay Piedmont $2.50 per pole, the PE would be morally obligated to pay other towns accordingly. Whitworth stated the company will decide within 30 days whether to approve the franchise renewal.

Other officials of the company present at the meeting were Robert Carder, Hagerstown, and T. Warner Lowry, Keyser.

The first lottery of importance in America was held in June, 1614, by the Virginia company.

Take time out for good grooming so you'll be happy and look as if you stepped out of a bandbox each time you leave the house.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Inside Story

Good grooming starts with the way you keep the personal things you own. It's a way of life—a positive program that is really behind the scenes. Dresser drawers should be neat as a pin, and life can be so much more pleasant if they are. It does something for one's self-respect, as well as the disposition.

Many women lead such full lives that it must be frustrating to them to waste perfectly good time searching for a pair of stockings, or, one earring, or one white glove. It's bound to ruin your breakfast and upset you for the rest of the day. People like this never seem to have that bandbox look, and they usually fall into the ranks of the never-ready and the perpetually late. There is no defense for such carelessness.

Each pair of earrings should be put in a partitioned box and kept in order. A plastic fishing box is as close as your nearest hardware store and not too expensive. An earring tree from a dime store is another idea. A well-known model has a large bulletin board covered with velvet hanging next to her dressing table. All her earrings are tacked up there, and she has them arranged according to style, color, and occasion. She makes a quick choice after she is all dressed, confirms it in the mirror, and away she goes. Having jewelry neat and in order is better for it—and for the peace of the owner. Having good grooming habits gives anyone a better feeling, keeps you good-natured—and I'm sure smarter looking.

Tomorrow—Tempo for time out.

New Mt. Savage Industry In Partial Production

Plant Expects Full Operation In Three Weeks

ASSIGNED — Fred G. Wagoner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Estel F. Wagoner of Greenspring, W. Va., who enlisted in the United States Air Force recently, is being trained as a teletype mechanic specialist at Francis E. Warren Air Force Base, Wyoming. This historic Cavalry Post is located outside Cheyenne, where the Air Force has established a number of specialist schools.

MT. SAVAGE—The Robbon Copies Corporation plant here is under partial operation and will be in full production within three weeks.

The progress report was made yesterday by Nicholas Manolovich, president of Nichlas Machine Works, which is the production plant.

There are 18 employes making parts and assembling Copeez, the attachment for typewriters that eliminates the use of carbon paper for copies. The device allows direct ribbon copies on all the reproductions.

The number of workers will gradually be increased during the next three weeks, Manolovich reported, as part production and final assembly becomes near the 1,000-unit mark.

Manolovich said the plant will be aiming for a production goal of 1,000 by the end of the next three weeks.

The president of the machine works which operated for many years in New York before being moved to Mt. Savage said operations have been held up due to the extensive remodeling of the plant in the old C&P shops.

The old railroad machine shop has been converted to a modern machine works where Copeez parts are being made. A new concrete floor was laid, the ceiling lowered and a gas heating system installed.

The old blacksmith shop has been remodeled into a final assembly plant.

The railroad fabricating shop has been made into a spray painting shop.

Manolovich reported that Ribbon Copies Corporation has ordered additional manufacturing equipment to provide for greater production than had been originally planned.

Manolovich explained that all the contractors hired to remodel the big stone buildings have completed their work and Ribbon Copies may now concentrate on production matters.

He added that employes that will be added during the next few weeks will have to be given training in the manufacture of the Copeez and its parts.

PE Is Offered 50-Year Plan By Piedmont

Fees Listed In New Franchise

PIEDMONT—This town has offered to renew its franchise with the Potomac Edison Company for the use of their poles and equipment for 50 years. The company will pay the city $100 for the first hundred poles, and 75 cents for each additional pole.

The town will be paid for all poles within the corporate limits, whether on city or private property, and there are 169 poles in all. The city will receive an annual fee of $147.50 from the power company.

At a recent special meeting of the Town Council with Horace P. Whitworth of Westernport, counsel for the Potomac Edison Company, the council made a counter proposal asking $2.50 per pole and that the franchise which expires July 23 be renewed only for 30 years instead of 50 as requested by the company.

Whitworth stated that he did not have the power to act but would consult the PE and report back at another special meeting, Monday evening.

The meeting was opened by the proposal of the company by Attorney Whitworth, followed by D. E. Stultz, Hagerstown, vice president of the company, who pointed out the importance of the longer franchise in borrowing money, explaining the firm was able to obtain a better interest rate on the money they have borrowed for the $20,000,000 program now in progress.

As the rate of $1 per pole for the first 100 poles and 75 cents for each additional pole is the same paid other towns, Whitworth said the firm felt if it would pay Piedmont $2.50 per pole, the PE would be morally obligated to pay other towns accordingly. Whitworth stated the company will decide within 30 days whether to approve the franchise renewal.

Other officials of the company present at the meeting were Robert Carder, Hagerstown, and T. Warner Lowry, Keyser.

The first lottery of importance in America was held in June, 1614, by the Virginia company.

Take time out for good grooming so you'll be happy and look as if you stepped out of a bandbox each time you leave the house.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Inside Story

Good grooming starts with the way you keep the personal things you own. It's a way of life—a positive program that is really behind the scenes. Dresser drawers should be neat as a pin, and life can be so much more pleasant if they are. It does something for one's self-respect, as well as the disposition.

Many women lead such full lives that it must be frustrating to them to waste perfectly good time searching for a pair of stockings, or, one earring, or one white glove. It's bound to ruin your breakfast and upset you for the rest of the day. People like this never seem to have that bandbox look, and they usually fall into the ranks of the never-ready and the perpetually late. There is no defense for such carelessness.

Each pair of earrings should be put in a partitioned box and kept in order. A plastic fishing box is as close as your nearest hardware store and not too expensive. An earring tree from a dime store is another idea. A well-known model has a large bulletin board covered with velvet hanging next to her dressing table. All her earrings are tacked up there, and she has them arranged according to style, color, and occasion. She makes a quick choice after she is all dressed, confirms it in the mirror, and away she goes. Having jewelry neat and in order is better for it—and for the peace of the owner. Having good grooming habits gives anyone a better feeling, keeps you good-natured—and I'm sure smarter looking.

Tomorrow—Tempo for time out.

Winters Hurls No-Hit Game For Sentinels

Hyndman Fails To Get Bingle; Bruce And Mt. Savage Losers

Ronnie Winters hurled a no-hit game for Fort Hill High's tossers as the Sentinels opened defense of their Bi-State Conference title yesterday with an 11-3 triumph over Hyndman on the Fort Hill diamond.

A streak of wildness in the fifth frame when Hyndman combined four walks, an error and a wild pitch for their three counters spoiled Winter's winning effort for a shutout.

Notch Second Win

Fort Hill, notching its second triumph of the season, combed two Hyndman hurlers for 12 hits, including three-baggers by Frank Valentine, Ed McKenny and Don Irons, with the latter two coming in a big eight-run second inning.

In addition to hurling no-hit ball over the seven-inning route, Winters walked seven and struck out 15 enemy batsmen.

Irons and McKenny topped the Fort Hill assault with three hits apiece.

At Campobello, Coach Gene Shaw made his debut a winning one as Allegany edged Mt. Savage in a 4-3 thriller in which the Campers came from behind to win.

Arthur Washington, sturdy right-hander for the Campers, won his own ball game with a two-run, two out triple which drove in the sixth inning for Allegany.

Washington allowed Mt. Savage only four hits and struck out five while walking two. He trailed until his winning hit in the sixth.

Burkett Hits Homer

Mt. Savage tallied twice in the third when Van Meter walked, Stevens sacrificed, Bruce erred Bishield's bounder and Clauson doubled for one run. Bishields scored when Jerry Yankelevitz threw away the outfield relay on Clauson's two-bagger for the second run. Bob Burkett homered for the Indians' other run in the fourth.

The Shawmen garnered two runs in the fifth on Ronnie Diehl's single, an error, Pete Charuhas's bingle, and Ronnie Bruce's double. In the sixth Diehl was safe on an error and Yankelevitz walked with two out to set the stage for Washington's winning hit.

A three-run spurt in the sixth iced the game and broke up a hurlers' duel between Ritter and Donnie Wilkinson at that point. LaSalle entered the inning with a 2-0 lead.

Explorers Take Lead

The Explorers took the lead in the first when Jim Struntz scored on a wild pitch and made it 2-0 in the fifth when Ritter singled, Struntz walked and Norman Raines muffed Regis Fair's grounder at third with Ritter scoring.

An error, base on balls and Bill Buzzard's double produced the first two runs in the sixth and a passed ball let the third tally home. Bruce scored when Clyde Beard opened the sixth with a single, stole second and came home on an error and an infield out.

Van Parsons had a pair of hits for LaSalle while four players shared Bruce's quartet of singles.

The scheduled game between Flintstone's Aggies at Beall High of Frostburg was postponed until a later date because of wet grounds on the Beall diamond.

Today Allegany will visit Lonaconing to play in Valley High's conference home opener at 3:30 p. m.

Winters Hurls No-Hit Game For Sentinels

Hyndman Fails To Get Bingle; Bruce And Mt. Savage Losers

Ronnie Winters hurled a no-hit game for Fort Hill High's tossers as the Sentinels opened defense of their Bi-State Conference title yesterday with an 11-3 triumph over Hyndman on the Fort Hill diamond.

A streak of wildness in the fifth frame when Hyndman combined four walks, an error and a wild pitch for their three counters spoiled Winter's winning effort for a shutout.

Notch Second Win

Fort Hill, notching its second triumph of the season, combed two Hyndman hurlers for 12 hits, including three-baggers by Frank Valentine, Ed McKenny and Don Irons, with the latter two coming in a big eight-run second inning.

In addition to hurling no-hit ball over the seven-inning route, Winters walked seven and struck out 15 enemy batsmen.

Irons and McKenny topped the Fort Hill assault with three hits apiece.

At Campobello, Coach Gene Shaw made his debut a winning one as Allegany edged Mt. Savage in a 4-3 thriller in which the Campers came from behind to win.

Arthur Washington, sturdy right-hander for the Campers, won his own ball game with a two-run, two out triple which drove in the sixth inning for Allegany.

Washington allowed Mt. Savage only four hits and struck out five while walking two. He trailed until his winning hit in the sixth.

Burkett Hits Homer

Mt. Savage tallied twice in the third when Van Meter walked, Stevens sacrificed, Bruce erred Bishield's bounder and Clauson doubled for one run. Bishields scored when Jerry Yankelevitz threw away the outfield relay on Clauson's two-bagger for the second run. Bob Burkett homered for the Indians' other run in the fourth.

The Shawmen garnered two runs in the fifth on Ronnie Diehl's single, an error, Pete Charuhas's bingle, and Ronnie Bruce's double. In the sixth Diehl was safe on an error and Yankelevitz walked with two out to set the stage for Washington's winning hit.

A three-run spurt in the sixth iced the game and broke up a hurlers' duel between Ritter and Donnie Wilkinson at that point. LaSalle entered the inning with a 2-0 lead.

Explorers Take Lead

The Explorers took the lead in the first when Jim Struntz scored on a wild pitch and made it 2-0 in the fifth when Ritter singled, Struntz walked and Norman Raines muffed Regis Fair's grounder at third with Ritter scoring.

An error, base on balls and Bill Buzzard's double produced the first two runs in the sixth and a passed ball let the third tally home. Bruce scored when Clyde Beard opened the sixth with a single, stole second and came home on an error and an infield out.

Van Parsons had a pair of hits for LaSalle while four players shared Bruce's quartet of singles.

The scheduled game between Flintstone's Aggies at Beall High of Frostburg was postponed until a later date because of wet grounds on the Beall diamond.

Today Allegany will visit Lonaconing to play in Valley High's conference home opener at 3:30 p. m.

Spieser Victor Over Rowan As Doc Halts Bout

DETROIT, March 11 (AP)—Chuck Spieser of Detroit chopped methodically at Irish Joe Rowan of Philadelphia for five rounds tonight and Dr. Joseph Cahalan called a halt before Rowan could answer the bell for the sixth. Under Michigan rules the bout goes into the records as a technical knockout in the sixth.

Although Spieser was heavily favored by the home town crowd of 6,440 cash customers, the verdict was greeted by loud booing.

Rowan was cut under the left eye in the second round and the eye was closed tight before the third was over. It was this that brought a halt.

Spieser won every round on the cards of Referee Lou Handler and Judges Barney Plotnik and Jack Aspery.

Quartet Of Closing Games Gets Started At 6 O'clock Tonight

Poling's Market and the Devon Club, two of the highest scoring teams in the Central YMCA-Jaycees sponsored basketball tournament both advanced to tonight's finals in the Senior Unlimited Division with triumphs on the Y boards.

Malone's Tires joined S&S Lunch in the Junior Unlimited finals and Walter's Texaco five gained the right to play Nave's Market in the 135-Pound Class with victories in last night's semi-final round.

Cooley's Pills and Lover's Leap Esso already had gained the finals in the 115-Pound Class with victories earlier in the week.

Tonight's Finals

6:00—Cooley's Pills vs. Lovers Leap Esso (115-Pound Class).

7:00—Nave's Market vs. Walter's Texaco (135-Pound Class).

8:00—Malone's Tires vs. S&S Lunch (Junior Unlimited).

9:00—Devon Club vs. Poling's Market (Senior Unlimited).

Poling's Market swept to another one-sided decision in the Senior Unlimited Class by battering the Oakland Independents, 91-60, in the second game played last night on the Y court.

Advancing to the finals tonight the Marketeers were paced by Don Maphis with 22 points and Roger Maphis with 24 tallies. Red Ingram had 22 markers in a losing cause for the Oaklanders.

In the opening 135-Pound Division game Walter's Texaco outfit gained the final round with an esy 84-38 decision over the Wigfield-Davidson Catamounts.

Salesky Scores 28 Points

Walters cagers, with former Bruce and Mt. Savage players, were topped by Bill Salesky's 28 markers and Ron Carter's 22 points. High man for the Catamounts was Maine with 15.

Harold Malone, former Fort Hill cager, was hurt as Malone's Lee Tires defeated Bruner's, 66-41, in the Junior Unlimited semi-final contest. Malone was treated at Memorial Hospital for head lacerations received in a scramble for the ball during the game.

Malone's led all the way as Carl Brown pumped home 20 points and Jimmy Thomas added 17. High for Bruner's was Bobby Blair with 19 tallies for the Grocers.

Last night's final game produced the other Senior Unlimited finalist as the Devon Club, paced by Bob Lookabaugh and Dave Marple with 14 and 12 points, took the measure of the Cumberland Electric Seniors, 64-39. High for Cumberland Electric was Tom Kelley with 16 points.

Hilltop Rec League Finals Set Tonight

The finals in the Hilltop Recreation League in Lonaconing are scheduled tonight in the Valley High School gym at 7:45 o'clock. Detmold Hill will play Buck Hill in the closing game of the season.

Detmold won the first meeting of the two teams, 24-18, while Buck Hill handed Detmold its only loss for the year, 34-20, in their second meeting.

Bi State Pony League To Meet

The Bi State Pony Baseball League will meet tonight at 7 o'clock at Lonaconing to seek an eighth team for a berth in the circuit, Bobby Blair, secretary of the league announces.

Spieser Victor Over Rowan As Doc Halts Bout

DETROIT, March 11 (AP)—Chuck Spieser of Detroit chopped methodically at Irish Joe Rowan of Philadelphia for five rounds tonight and Dr. Joseph Cahalan called a halt before Rowan could answer the bell for the sixth. Under Michigan rules the bout goes into the records as a technical knockout in the sixth.

Although Spieser was heavily favored by the home town crowd of 6,440 cash customers, the verdict was greeted by loud booing.

Rowan was cut under the left eye in the second round and the eye was closed tight before the third was over. It was this that brought a halt.

Spieser won every round on the cards of Referee Lou Handler and Judges Barney Plotnik and Jack Aspery.

Pen Mar Little League To Meet In Ellerslie

The Pen Mar Little League will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the firemen's hall in Ellerslie with all teams representatives urged to attend the conference.

A report on the meeting April 8 in Hagerstown of District 7 Little League teams will be read by John Willetts, secretary, and team managers are requested to bring rosters of their players who have reached the age of 12, players who participated in the 1955 state tournament, and a list of their equipment.

Potomac State And Frostburg To Meet Today

Frostburg State Teachers College (2-0) and Potomac State College (1-2) will clash today in Keyser in the opening game of their baseball series.

To date both teams have played teams from Ohio. Frostburg has beaten Ashland, 4-2, and Kent State 6-4. The Catamounts won over Ashland, 8-7, in 12 innings after losing to Mount Union, 3-0, and Ashland 3-1.

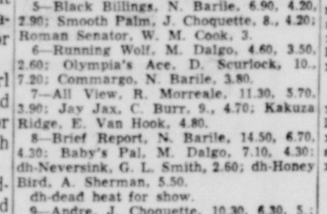

Junie Perry or Bob Sirk will pitch for Coach John Maiden's team and Dave Marple or Hugh Nolan will work on the firing line for Coach Waldon Skinner's Bobcats.

Only one game was played last season and Potomac State won, 7-2.

Valley High School opens its Bi-State Conference schedule today, meeting Allegany High School in Lonaconing at 3:30 o'clock.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 11 (INS)—Producer Sol Siegel must live right. First he gets Bing Crosby, Grace Kelly and Frank Sinatra for "High Society." Now he's about to put together an illustrious group for "Les Girls," a gay dancing revue.

The male dancer signed is Gene Kelly, with George Cukor as director. And you're pretty safe in saying that Cyd Charisse will be among the popular steppers. And that isn't all that happened. Sol cabled Cole Porter, who is now on the Riviera, to ask him if he would write the musical score. He got a prompt "yes" from Porter, who also wrote the music for "High Society."

If it rains in Monaco during the outdoor wedding festivities, Monaco will have no worry money-wise. A Lloyds of London policy insures the wedding against bad weather. This tidbit comes from a newspaperman friend already on the scene, and he says the insurance precaution was taken because, "the official procession will be in open cars and the reception will be held in the palace courtyard, a debacle if rain comes.

"The prince's wedding gift to Grace is a $60,000 Cartier jewel box made of precious woods and adorned with emeralds, rubies and diamonds. The principality of Monaco, of course, is giving her Grace a three-strand diamond necklace, and a group of Monegasque businessmen will present a gold cocktail shaker with six gold goblets on a large gold tray."

The much-publicized Latin beauty Lenora Amar has been in her native Brazil for a visit. But she'll be coming back here about the time John Huston returns from Europe to confer with him about "Typee" which he will film in the South Sea Islands for Allied Artists.

John has written to ask Senorita Amar to play the beautiful Polynesian girl opposite Gregory Peck. Although the wealthy Lenora has made many films in Mexico, she never has made one for an American company. She recently bought a $100,000 home in Beverly Hills and is reputed to be worth millions in jewels and securities.

For 54 years Ed Wynn played clowns and became famous as the perfect fool. But now he is not fooling about playing his first straight role in "The Great Man" with Jose Ferrer.

Ed says he is taking the part primarily as the result of an appeal he had some months ago from a special committee appointed in Washington to devise ways and means of helping people over 65 years of age to find new incentive and new jobs.

Although he is financially able to take care of himself, Ed feels he may be showing others how it is possible to stay frisky and employed even though 65 years of age—or over.

Ed's son, Keenan Wynn, also is in "The Great Man."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

How about this for timing? Grace Kelly's picture, "The Swan," opens in Los Angeles April 18. Philadelphia gets it sooner.

A handpicked group of the press will be sent to Lisbon by Papa Yates for Ray Milland's premier of "Lisbon."

Thank goodness, somebody gives Hollywood a break! Al Morgan, author of "The Great Man," has started a book on the constructive side of our town. He's impressed with the seriousness of our actors.

Patti Page at the Las Vegas Desert Inn is wowing them with the McHugh-Adamson song, "Too Young To Go Steady." and Nat "King" Cole, who introduced it, also is making it a top tune.

Good news! Harry Brand, who has been very sick with a strep throat and high temperature, is better and will be okay by the weekend.

The latest in maternity gowns, everything from sweeping hostess gowns, bluejeans and bathing suits, has been designed by Jean Louis for Judy Holliday to wear in her current movie.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

W.Va. Police Probe Injuries To Girl

West Virginia State Police at Keyser are investigating injuries suffered by an 18-year-old Dawson girl who either fell or jumped from an automobile Tuesday on West Virginia State Route 46.

Admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, was Waunetta M. Likens, whom attaches said suffered lacerations of the head and face and brush burns of the body. She was reported in "good" condition last night.

Trooper Charles Oliver said the Likens girl was a passenger in a car operated by Maxwell A. Ellifritz, 37, of 28 Spring Street, Keyser. The accident occurred about seven miles east of Keyser while the vehicle was traveling toward that town, Trooper Oliver said.

The secretary of the United States Treasury and the comptroller of currency are ex-officio members of the Federal Reserve board.

West: ♠ 5 4 2 ♥ J 3 2 ♦ 8 2 ♣ Q 10 6 5 3
East: ♠ 9 ♥ Q 7 ♦ K Q J 10 9 6 5 ♣ K J 4
South: ♠ A K 10 7 6 ♥ 10 9 8 ♦ 7 4 3 ♣ A 9

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	4 ♦	4 ♠	Pass
5 ♦	Pass	6 ♠	Pass

West, fully believing that North had told the truth about his control of diamonds, decided to open a club—and after that South didn't have a chance for the contract. When he cleared the heart suit, the defense lost no time in cashing a club trick.

North's bidding was bad in two respects. First he did not have the overall values to justify the five-diamond cue bid. He had opened the bidding and then jump-raised his partner's spade takeout. True, South had rebid freely over East's four diamonds (which had been delayed for reasons known only to East), but surely South was more than justified in making that call, holding as he did an excellent trump suit and an outside ace. As a matter of fact, South should have made some slam try on his own account, such as four clubs, instead of announcing that he was content to play for a mere game.

The second outstanding point against North's five-diamond cue bid was that it steered the opening lead away from diamonds and into the suit that North had most reason to fear. There would have been some logic in North's jumping all the way to six spades, but the slam wasn't even a good gamble when he warned West away from an opening diamond lead.

McVicker Released Under $2,500 Bond

A 42-year-old local man was released under $2,500 bond yesterday afternoon for action of the April term of Circuit Court.

The bond was set yesterday morning by Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick after the State's Attorney asked a jury trial for Earl McVicker, 708 Elm Street, who has been charged with sodomy.

The man was apprehended Sunday night by City Officers Harry Iser and Frank R. Bohn. Detective George Furstenberg investigated.

A BAD CUE BID

CUE BIDS of the opponents' suits can and should be used flexibly, but not loosely. It is a serious mistake to use this type of bid merely to show control of the mentioned suit—as employed by every ranking expert, a cue bid implies much more than that. Let's consider a pertinent deal:

North dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

North: ♠ Q J 8 3 ♥ A K 6 5 4 ♦ A ♣ 8 7 2
West: ♠ 5 4 2 ♥ J 3 2 ♦ 8 2 ♣ Q 10 6 5 3
East: ♠ 9 ♥ Q 7 ♦ K Q J 10 9 6 5 ♣ K J 4
South: ♠ A K 10 7 6 ♥ 10 9 8 ♦ 7 4 3 ♣ A 9

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	4 ♦	4 ♠	Pass
5 ♦	Pass	6 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

West, fully believing that North had told the truth about his control of diamonds, decided to open a club—and after that South didn't have a chance for the contract. When he cleared the heart suit, the defense lost no time in cashing a club trick.

North's bidding was bad in two respects. First he did not have the overall values to justify the five-diamond cue bid. He had opened the bidding and then jump-raised his partner's spade takeout. True, South had rebid freely over East's four diamonds (which had been delayed for reasons known only to East), but surely South was more than justified in making that call, holding as he did an excellent trump suit and an outside ace. DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

J U R O U ; O G X U R D R E : K W U I G P N G H D G U V I R H K U F R Z Z R P U R F K W - Z E I G P N — K U P P E I G P .

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: BUT ON THE SEA BE TERRIBLE, UNTAMED, UNCONQUERABLE STILL — THOMSON.

Market Rallies To Retrace Portion Of Tuesday's Fall

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP) — The stock market rallied today and retraced a substantial portion of the sharp fall suffered yesterday.

The deep markdown in prices yesterday attracted bargain hunters today, and demand was enough to hike prices all around.

However, there was no unusual enthusiasm about the rise, and the business developed was less than yesterday's total—2,440,000 shares as compared with 2,590,000 shares.

The advance was fairly general and included the steels motors, railroads, oils, coppers, aluminums, chemicals, aircrafts, airlines, motion pictures, building materials, and utilities.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.00 at $9.00. Yesterday it dropped $2.60, the heaviest decline in six months. The industrial component of the average was up $1.70, rails added 80 cents, and utilities were up 10 cents.

The market was quite a bit narrower than it was yesterday with 1,189 individual issues traded as against 1231 the previous day. There were 612 higher and 330 lower. Forty stocks hit new highs for the year while 57 made new lows. Another indication of the hesitancy of the markt.

Market Rallies To Retrace Portion Of Tuesday's Fall

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP) — The stock market rallied today and retraced a substantial portion of the sharp fall suffered yesterday.

The deep markdown in prices yesterday attracted bargain hunters today, and demand was enough to hike prices all around.

However, there was no unusual enthusiasm about the rise, and the business developed was less than yesterday's total—2,440,000 shares as compared with 2,590,000 shares.

The advance was fairly general and included the steels motors, railroads, oils, coppers, aluminums, chemicals, aircrafts, airlines, motion pictures, building materials, and utilities.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.00 at $9.00. Yesterday it dropped $2.60, the heaviest decline in six months. The industrial component of the average was up $1.70, rails added 80 cents, and utilities were up 10 cents.

The market was quite a bit narrower than it was yesterday with 1,189 individual issues traded as against 1231 the previous day. There were 612 higher and 330 lower. Forty stocks hit new highs for the year while 57 made new lows. Another indication of the hesitancy of the markt.

Sites Suggested For Series Of Dams On River

Kitzmiller, Bayard Views Presented

Kitzmiller area residents yesterday suggested two tributaries of the North Branch of the Potomac River as excellent sites for a series of dams to protect the area from devastating floods.

Hopeful that a Corps of Engineers study leading to the development of the full resources of the river will bear fruit, they said Abrams Creek and Stony River would provide sites for the dams which would not only reduce flood damage but would control the flow of the river throughout the year.

The dams, they said, would serve the same purposes as the Savage River Dam, which was completed several years ago by the Corps of Engineers.

Abrams Creek empties into the North Branch at Harrison Station, several miles above Blaine, W. Va., and Stony River at Schell, several miles above Kitzmiller.

The series of reservoirs would be located in Grant County, W. Va.

Hope For Relief

The hearing held at Kitzmiller was the last of four held by the Corps of Engineers to hear the ideas of citizens for controlling and expanding the use of the North Branch of the Potomac.

Kitzmiller's Mayor Earl Shank said the community is hoping for flood relief and commended the efforts of the Western Maryland Railway and the State Roads Commission for opening the channel of the stream last year.

He exhibited pictures showing damage to the community, part of which is subject to devastating floods.

Del. Harry C. Edwards, Grantsville, pledged the cooperation of Garrett County and the State of Maryland in the plans being prepared by the Corps of Engineers.

Floods constitute a health menace, said Dr. Arthur F. Jones, Garrett County health officer, in urging a comprehensive plan for controlling the river.

Col. Ray Adams, Washington district engineer for the Corps of Engineers, was in charge of the delegation seeking the views of the public on the plan.

A similiar hearing was held yesterday morning at Bayard, W. Va., where citizens presented reports from that area.

Hearings were conducted Tuesday at Westernport and Keyser by Colonel Adams. Also in the engineers group were Floyd Morris, A. Yarnoff, D. V. C. Birrell, R. L. Irwin and Hebert Thomas.

Full backing of the study has been pledged by Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md.) and Rep. Harley O. Staggers (D-W.Va. 2nd). Staggers has proposed a series of dams to control floods and introduced a resolution in Congress calling for money necessary to make the North Branch survey by the Engineers.

Immediate Relief Asked

Keyser Mayor John C. Freeland called for immediate temporary relief from flooding, but Col. Adams said he could not recommend temporary measures. He explained a temporary program not to cost over $150,000 can be made available but once this was done no further aid would be possible for complete protection.

Julian G. Patrick of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, spoke on stream control by using retaining dams and cited the value derived from the Savage River dam, of which he is supervising engineer.

C. L. Bowers, engineer with the West Virginia State Roads Commission, spoke of the necessity of relocating highways if the series of dams is constructed. Others heard included John I. Rogers, chairman of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin, who pledged his support to the control project; James R. Broome, civic affairs chairman of the Keyser Moose Lodge who suggested means of stream control; Harry R. Taylor, Keyser attorney and counsel for the West Virginia SRC who asked immediate protection; Eugene Brand, of the Potomac Valley Conservation Commission, who submitted a report on retarding dams on New Creek and the south fork of the Potomac; Berma Yerkey, agricultural engineer, who spoke on advancement of flood programs on the Potomac and its tributaries; Frank Browning who resides in the flood area; Charles Swisher representing residents of New Creek area; W. E. Michaels of Potomac State College who showed movies of area flood damage; and W. W. Schofield, representing Pryne and Company, who reported on damage done to his company during recent floods.

50-Year Check

The group was told that no immediate or temporary aid can be provided but after the survey is completed and the amount of estimated damage over a period of 50 years equals the cost of protective construction, future protection will be considered.

Purpose of the survey is to expand and bring up-to-date an engineering study made 10 years ago. Scope of the new undertaking includes flood control, water supply for industry, municipalities and agriculture, pollution abatement, hydroelectric power, soil, fish and wildlife conservation and recreation.

Equity Suit Filed

Bessie Lee Haid yesterday filed a bill of complaint in Allegany County Circuit Court against Rudolph L. Haid.

Hear Plans For Expressway

W. A. Cowan, office manager for Green Associates, Inc., (third from left) chats with officials of the Cumberland Lions Club after reporting on progress made on surveys for the Crosstown Expressway. With him, left to right, are William H. Kight, program chairman; Dr. William R. Allen, president, and Ernest E. Treat. Cowan reported crews have gathered about half of the data needed for the design of the structure.

Survey Crews Gathering Data For Expressway

Survey crews have secured about half of the information needed to design the crosstown expressway section of the Cumberland throughway, W. A. Cowan, office manager for Green Associates, Inc., told the Cumberland Lions Club yesterday.

Cowan heads the survey crews of the Baltimore consulting engineering company which have been at work here since early in February, gathering engineering data which will be used to design the structure for the Maryland State Roads Commission.

Construction of the project is slated during the second phase (1958-1961) of Maryland's 12-year road program, Russell H. McCain, SRC chairman, reported here recently. He added it may be possible to get the work under way next year if funds can be found in advance of the scheduled date.

To Be 80 Feet Wide

Green Associates, Inc., Cowan said, has been asked to design all of Line A and part of Line C of the Cumberland throughway, as set forth in the 1950 traffic survey.

The major portion, which includes the overhead expressway, will begin on Route 40, about 800 feet east of the intersection of Willowbrook Road and Baltimore Avenue.

The preliminary line the survey crews are following parallels Central Avenue to Emily Street, where it is proposed to begin the viaduct.

This structure, he said, will be approximately 3,000 feet long and 80 feet wide. It will have two 36-foot traffic lanes divided by a four-foot median strip, and have two-foot safety strips on either side.

A downtown interchange is being planned, with on and off ramps, in the Harrison, Mechanic and Centre street area.

Route Is Tentative

The viaduct, he reported, is proposed to cross south of the Queen City Station, clearing the B & O tracks by approximately 24 feet. Then it will proceed on a line passing between the Queen City Dairy and the Crystal Laundry, and over Wills Creek and the Western Maryland Railway tracks just south of the railway station.

The structure, he reported, will cross over the existing ramp of the new Cumberland - Ridgeley bridge and end approximately at Greene and Water streets. The proposed line then follows the Potomac River to a point north of Kelly Boulevard.

Location studies from that point on are now being made by the Maryland State Roads Commission.

The contract with Green Associates Inc., also calls for the design of Line C, the Industrial Boulevard section of the new Maryland Route 51, from Harrison Street to approximately West and Thomas streets.

Will Answer Questions

He said a more clear-cut picture of the proposed route should be available within three or four months.

All survey material, he said, is being sent to Baltimore, so designers will have exact information on the location of streets and buildings in the vicinity of the preliminary line furnished by the SRC.

It is not possible now, Cowan said, to tell people just how the expressway will affect their properties, but he said he will provide all available information to those who have questions at the company's local office at 6 Harrison Street .

Conservation Leaders Check Flood Controls

Five Allegany County men interested in soil conservation measures visited the Berkeley Springs, W. Va., area yesterday to check certain floor control measures that have been taken to check the flow of the tributaries feeding the stream which flows through the center of the Morgan County seat.

Visiting Berkeley Springs were Martin M. Gordon, soil conservation aide for the United States Soil Conservation Service; County Agent Joseph M. Steger and three members of the Allegany Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors, Wilbert Paul of Mt. Savage, Charles S. Harvey of Shaft and D. T. Puffenberger of Little Orleans.

They were escorted by Joseph Kuykendahl of Morgantown, deputy West Virginia state conservationists, and Norris R. Caryl, area conservationist who works out of Romney.

Some eight impoundment sites to cover a 7,000 acre area are included in the Berkeley Springs plan. The Allegany County men inspected two completed impoundment sites located east of U. S. Route 522 just south of Berkeley Springs. Permanent ponds have been made by large earthen embankments. One of the ponds covers about one-and-one-half acres and the other about one acre. Work was started 18 month ago.

Soil conservationists here have been hoping that such a flood control program can be developed on the tributaries of George's Creek.

Taylor To Head 'Convention'

Casper R. Taylor Jr., RFD 1, Cumberland, a senior in the University of Notre Dame College of Arts and Letters, will be the chairman of the Mock Democratic National Convention to be held at Notre Dame April 16-18.

The convention is sponsored every election year by the Academy of Political Science, a student organization, of which Taylor is the president.

Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler, a graduate of Notre Dame Law School, will give the principal address to over 2,000 student delegates and alternates from Notre Dame, and nearby St. Mary's College.

Mock Democratic and Republican conventions are held at the University in alternate election years. President Eisenhower was the Mock GOP Convention nominee in 1952.

Lucky Bucks

The "buck" you mail for Easter Seals will be lucky for some crippled child in Allegany County.

Thousands of Allegany countians received Easter Seals in the mail a month ago, and so far approximately $7,000 has been realized from the distribution. Much more is needed, however, to finance treatment of crippled children in this section.

Don't hold back if you have not yet mailed your money for the seals. It's possible that the buck you haven't returned is the dollar that will be needed to reach the goal.

Church Names Successor To Rev. Scrogum

Rev. Wayne Eberley Accepts Assignment

Rev. Wayne Eberley, who will graduate in June from the Bethany Biblical Seminary, Chicago, has accepted a call to the pastorate of Living Stone Church of the Brethren here, effective August 1.

Rev. Eberley preached a sermon at the local church Sunday morning, and following the service the congregation met and voted to call him to succeed Rev. Arthur Scrogum who has been the pastor for a number of years.

Rev. Scrogum is leaving the congregation because he has been promoted by his denomination as executive secretary of the Middle Maryland District of the Church of the Brethren. After about September 1 he will make his headquarters in Hagerstown.

His successor, Rev. Eberley is a native of Indiana, born near Wawaka. Eberley graduated from Manchester College in Indiana before entering the Chicago seminary. His father, Rev. John Eberley, is manager of the World Service Relief Center at New Windsor, Md., where relief materials collected here and elsewhere in the region are processed for use abroad.

Th new pastor's wife, the former Miss Wilda Widdowson of Clymber, Pa., is a graduate of the School of Music at Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. She will succeed Mrs. Scrogum at the local church as minister of music.

Papers Seeking Old Photos For Special Editions

The Cumberland News and the Cumberland Evening Times will publish "old fashioned" editions April 26, and want an "assist" from their readers.

Last year after similar editions were printed many photographs of old time scenes were offered for publication. Now is the time to bring these photographs to the Times-News office. The older the photograph, the better. The pictures should be of subjects in greater Cumberland area.

The name and address of the owner should be printed in ink on the back of the photographs, which will be returned to the owners.

This is an opportunity to let your neighbors share something of the past from Cumberland. Bring or send your old photographs to the Times-News editorial office not later than April 18.

Conference Set On Dispute Over Voting Machines

Pre-Trial Points Will Be Argued

Rival attorneys will have a pre-trial conference today with Chief Judge George Henderson in Garrett County Circuit Court to discuss the law applicable in the squabble over voting machines which has kept the county from entering into a contract for the devices.

The attorneys are Horace P. Whitworth Jr. of Westernport, representing the Garrett County Board of Election Supervisors, and W. Dwight Stover of Oakland, representing the Garrett County Board of Commissioners.

The majority of the election board wants to purchase machines manufactured by the Automatic Voting Machine Company of Jamestown, N. Y. William Gibson and Francis Sanders, Republican members of the election board, contend that the state law requiring use of voting machines in all Maryland counties entitles them to enter into a contract to buy the devices.

However, two of the county commissioners, Harvey D. Swartzentruber and Aubrey C. Brenneman, contend that the contract must be approved by the county commissioners because that body must provide the funds to pay for the voting mactines. In essence they argue that the county commissioners hold "veto" power over the election board.

Swartzentruber and Brenneman have said that the election board should have purchased machines from the Shoup Manufacturing Company of Philadelphia, Pa., which submitted the low bid. Ervin Roth, the third commissioner, disagrees with their vied while Willia O. Treacy, the Democrat member of the election board, sides with Swarzentruber and Brenneman.

The Board of Election Supervisors has petitioned the court to interpret the state law concerning voting machine purchases.

Celanese Plans Big Expansion In Next 5 Years

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP)—Celanese Corp. of America will spend 100 million dollars in expansion in the next five years, stockholders were told today at the big textile company's annual meeting.

However, President Harold Blancke indicated, the bulk of this sum will probably find its way into the company's growing activities outside the textile field.

No expansion is planned in textiles, Blancke said, and with the textile market "a bit difficult currently" the company's textile divisions are "trimming their sails." Nevertheless, Blancke asserted, there is still a lot of money to be made in textiles and "we have no intention whatsoever of moving away from the textile industry." The company is "interested in every possible market" for textile fibers, he added.

Spotlighting the company's continued interest in textile operations was an elaborate fashion show featuring women's high-fashion apparel made of arnel, a triacetate fabric introduced by Celanese last year. Models paraded before stockholders on a carpeted stage.

Blancke said the company's total sales for the first three months this year are expected to amount to more than 48 million dollars for a slight gain over the comparable quarter of 1955. He declined to give any estimate of Celanese' first quarter earnings, saying "I'd prefer not to guess."

The company is expanding rapidly in the plastics and chemical field, Blancke said.

Gas Company's Line Request Goes To FPC

Hearing To Be Held Today

Hearings on Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company's request for authorization to build some seven miles of new pipeline to supply gas to Cumberland and the new Pittsburgh Plate Glass plant here will be held before the Federal Power Commission today.

The request has not been contested and approval of the $336,000 project is expected within a few weeks, District Manager C. C. Robbins said. Temporary approval has been received and preliminary work, such as clearing the right-of-way is under way.

EPC approval is a necessary legal step required prior to construction of this type, Robbins said.

Over three and one-half miles of the new line will run east from a connection with the Keyser-to-Cumberland supply line west of the C&P railroad tracks to the delivery network here at Federal Street near Lexington Street.

From that point, another three miles of pipe will be laid south along the C&O Canal to the glass plant, the official said. The project also calls for construction of a measuring station on the line near the plant.

Under a construction agreement between Pittsburgh Plate Glass and the gas company, Pittsburgh Plate will pay the cost of the line from Federal Street to the plant. Upon completion, C&A will repay the cost of that section of line over the next few year, Robbins said.

Cumberland residents also will benefit from the first part of the project, he added. The line will have capacity to move larger volumes of gas into the delivery network here.

The pipeline and measuring station can be in operation early this summer, the official said.

Librarians Start Workshop

Librarians in Allegany County high schools met Tuesday morning with Assistant Superintendent Richard T. Rizer to begin their annual library workshop.

These books will be on display at the Board of Education headquarters through today. Librarians will order volumes from among the 600 which they would like to add to their libraries.

Librarians who conferred with Rizer included Miss Evelyn B. Bright, Allegany High School; Miss Mary E. Hanson, Beall Elementary School; Miss Mabel L. Higgins, Beall High School; Mrs. Nellie H. McCoy, Bruce High School; Miss Mary C. Burns, Cresaptown Junior High School; Miss Elinor A. Doerr, Flintstone High School; Mrs. Naomi F. Bennett and Miss D. Gertrude Ranck, both Fort Hill High School; Miss Mary T. Witte, Mt. Savage High School; J. Warren Maclay, Oldtown High School, and Mrs. Nora C. Troxell, Valley High School.

Senate Aspirants Barnstorming In Garrett County

Squabble Develops In Baltimore

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

George P. Mahoney and Millard E. Tydings barnstormed Western Maryland in their rival campaigns for the Democratic senatorial nomination yesterday while a new squabble arose among their supporters in Baltimore.

Mahoney, threading his way around Garrett County mountains, ignored a demand that he repudiate tactics used by Hyman A. Pressman, Baltimore lawyer and one of his backers.

R. Bruce Livie, chairman of the Tydings campaign, called upon Mahoney to disassociate himself from an attack by Pressman.

Although Pressman holds no official post in the Mahoney campaign, he represented Mahoney in the court recount stemming from the 1954 gubernatorial campaign and has been active on his behalf in the current fight.

Livie denounced Pressman for distributing envelopes containing powder and labeled "white wash." The device referred to an investigation conducted by a Tydings committee in 1950, shortly before Republican John Marshall Butler defeated him in his bid for a fifth straight term.

When Livie's demand that he repudiate the Pressman action was relayed to him, Mahoney replied:

Says Pressman "Independent"

"Mr. Pressman has been a very independent man. I don't think anyone can dictate to him."

In his hand-shaking trip through Garrett today, Mahoney visited Oakland, Grantsville, McHenry and other communities.

Tydings' trip took him through the southern and western sections of Frederick County.

In Baltimore, Pressman said Livie's reference to "white wash" envelopes as a "scurrilous attack on Mr. Tydings is completely unjustified and constitutes an attempt to put life into Mr. Tydings' lagging campaign."

Pressman added that Tydings "was the first one who brought up the subject of white wash in this campaign." He said the former senator 17 months ago "tried to establish a basis for his candidacy by challenging to meet anyone face to face in debate who accused him of whitewashing the investigation of subversion in the State Department."

"I accepted his challenge but he backed down," said Pressman.

A statement issued in reply by Livie said in part:

"This audacious clown, Pressman, is unworthy to discuss anything in public debate with former Senator Tydings.

Would Like Debate

"Why should Senator Tydings debate with a Mahoney menial? Mr. Tydings, I am sure, would be delighted to debate with Mr. Mahoney on any issue in this campaign. So far, however, Mr. Mahoney has been very careful to avoid any occasion which could lead to a debate and reveal the comparative merits of the two candidates.

"Every time Mr. Mahoney is asked for his views on an issue he says I am sorry I couldn't get there to discuss it, my car broke down."

Mahoney, invited to a League of Women Voters forum for candidates last month, sent a telegram apologizing for his absence and saying he was stranded in Frederick because of automobile trouble.

From Mahoney headquarters in Baltimore today Chairman Michael J. Birmingham announced plans for a $100-a-plate dinner to raise campaign funds. Birmingham said the affair would be known as "The George P. Mahoney Victory Dinner."

Sites Suggested For Series Of Dams On River

Kitzmiller, Bayard Views Presented

Kitzmiller area residents yesterday suggested two tributaries of the North Branch of the Potomac River as excellent sites for a series of dams to protect the area from devastating floods.

Hopeful that a Corps of Engineers study leading to the development of the full resources of the river will bear fruit, they said Abrams Creek and Stony River would provide sites for the dams which would not only reduce flood damage but would control the flow of the river throughout the year.

The dams, they said, would serve the same purposes as the Savage River Dam, which was completed several years ago by the Corps of Engineers.

Abrams Creek empties into the North Branch at Harrison Station, several miles above Blaine, W. Va., and Stony River at Schell, several miles above Kitzmiller.

The series of reservoirs would be located in Grant County, W. Va.

Hope For Relief

The hearing held at Kitzmiller was the last of four held by the Corps of Engineers to hear the ideas of citizens for controlling and expanding the use of the North Branch of the Potomac.

Kitzmiller's Mayor Earl Shank said the community is hoping for flood relief and commended the efforts of the Western Maryland Railway and the State Roads Commission for opening the channel of the stream last year.

He exhibited pictures showing damage to the community, part of which is subject to devastating floods.

Del. Harry C. Edwards, Grantsville, pledged the cooperation of Garrett County and the State of Maryland in the plans being prepared by the Corps of Engineers.

Floods constitute a health menace, said Dr. Arthur F. Jones, Garrett County health officer, in urging a comprehensive plan for controlling the river.

Col. Ray Adams, Washington district engineer for the Corps of Engineers, was in charge of the delegation seeking the views of the public on the plan.

A similiar hearing was held yesterday morning at Bayard, W. Va., where citizens presented reports from that area.

Hearings were conducted Tuesday at Westernport and Keyser by Colonel Adams. Also in the engineers group were Floyd Morris, A. Yarnoff, D. V. C. Birrell, R. L. Irwin and Hebert Thomas.

Full backing of the study has been pledged by Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md.) and Rep. Harley O. Staggers (D-W.Va. 2nd). Staggers has proposed a series of dams to control floods and introduced a resolution in Congress calling for money necessary to make the North Branch survey by the Engineers.

Immediate Relief Asked

Keyser Mayor John C. Freeland called for immediate temporary relief from flooding, but Col. Adams said he could not recommend temporary measures. He explained a temporary program not to cost over $150,000 can be made available but once this was done no further aid would be possible for complete protection.

Julian G. Patrick of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, spoke on stream control by using retaining dams and cited the value derived from the Savage River dam, of which he is supervising engineer.

C. L. Bowers, engineer with the West Virginia State Roads Commission, spoke of the necessity of relocating highways if the series of dams is constructed. Others heard included John I. Rogers, chairman of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin, who pledged his support to the control project; James R. Broome, civic affairs chairman of the Keyser Moose Lodge who suggested means of stream control; Harry R. Taylor, Keyser attorney and counsel for the West Virginia SRC who asked immediate protection; Eugene Brand, of the Potomac Valley Conservation Commission, who submitted a report on retarding dams on New Creek and the south fork of the Potomac; Berma Yerkey, agricultural engineer, who spoke on advancement of flood programs on the Potomac and its tributaries; Frank Browning who resides in the flood area; Charles Swisher representing residents of New Creek area; W. E. Michaels of Potomac State College who showed movies of area flood damage; and W. W. Schofield, representing Pryne and Company, who reported on damage done to his company during recent floods.

50-Year Check

The group was told that no immediate or temporary aid can be provided but after the survey is completed and the amount of estimated damage over a period of 50 years equals the cost of protective construction, future protection will be considered.

Purpose of the survey is to expand and bring up-to-date an engineering study made 10 years ago. Scope of the new undertaking includes flood control, water supply for industry, municipalities and agriculture, pollution abatement, hydroelectric power, soil, fish and wildlife conservation and recreation.

Equity Suit Filed

Bessie Lee Haid yesterday filed a bill of complaint in Allegany County Circuit Court against Rudolph L. Haid.

Hear Plans For Expressway

W. A. Cowan, office manager for Green Associates, Inc., (third from left) chats with officials of the Cumberland Lions Club after reporting on progress made on surveys for the Crosstown Expressway. With him, left to right, are William H. Kight, program chairman; Dr. William R. Allen, president, and Ernest E. Treat. Cowan reported crews have gathered about half of the data needed for the design of the structure.

Survey Crews Gathering Data For Expressway

Survey crews have secured about half of the information needed to design the crosstown expressway section of the Cumberland throughway, W. A. Cowan, office manager for Green Associates, Inc., told the Cumberland Lions Club yesterday.

Cowan heads the survey crews of the Baltimore consulting engineering company which have been at work here since early in February, gathering engineering data which will be used to design the structure for the Maryland State Roads Commission.

Construction of the project is slated during the second phase (1958-1961) of Maryland's 12-year road program, Russell H. McCain, SRC chairman, reported here recently. He added it may be possible to get the work under way next year if funds can be found in advance of the scheduled date.

To Be 80 Feet Wide

Green Associates, Inc., Cowan said, has been asked to design all of Line A and part of Line C of the Cumberland throughway, as set forth in the 1950 traffic survey.

The major portion, which includes the overhead expressway, will begin on Route 40, about 800 feet east of the intersection of Willowbrook Road and Baltimore Avenue.

The preliminary line the survey crews are following parallels Central Avenue to Emily Street, where it is proposed to begin the viaduct.

This structure, he said, will be approximately 3,000 feet long and 80 feet wide. It will have two 36-foot traffic lanes divided by a four-foot median strip, and have two-foot safety strips on either side.

A downtown interchange is being planned, with on and off ramps, in the Harrison, Mechanic and Centre street area.

Route Is Tentative

The viaduct, he reported, is proposed to cross south of the Queen City Station, clearing the B & O tracks by approximately 24 feet. Then it will proceed on a line passing between the Queen City Dairy and the Crystal Laundry, and over Wills Creek and the Western Maryland Railway tracks just south of the railway station.

The structure, he reported, will cross over the existing ramp of the new Cumberland - Ridgeley bridge and end approximately at Greene and Water streets. The proposed line then follows the Potomac River to a point north of Kelly Boulevard.

Location studies from that point on are now being made by the Maryland State Roads Commission.

The contract with Green Associates Inc., also calls for the design of Line C, the Industrial Boulevard section of the new Maryland Route 51, from Harrison Street to approximately West and Thomas streets.

Will Answer Questions

He said a more clear-cut picture of the proposed route should be available within three or four months.

All survey material, he said, is being sent to Baltimore, so designers will have exact information on the location of streets and buildings in the vicinity of the preliminary line furnished by the SRC.

It is not possible now, Cowan said, to tell people just how the expressway will affect their properties, but he said he will provide all available information to those who have questions at the company's local office at 6 Harrison Street .

Conservation Leaders Check Flood Controls

Five Allegany County men interested in soil conservation measures visited the Berkeley Springs, W. Va., area yesterday to check certain floor control measures that have been taken to check the flow of the tributaries feeding the stream which flows through the center of the Morgan County seat.

Visiting Berkeley Springs were Martin M. Gordon, soil conservation aide for the United States Soil Conservation Service; County Agent Joseph M. Steger and three members of the Allegany Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors, Wilbert Paul of Mt. Savage, Charles S. Harvey of Shaft and D. T. Puffenberger of Little Orleans.

They were escorted by Joseph Kuykendahl of Morgantown, deputy West Virginia state conservationists, and Norris R. Caryl, area conservationist who works out of Romney.

Some eight impoundment sites to cover a 7,000 acre area are included in the Berkeley Springs plan. The Allegany County men inspected two completed impoundment sites located east of U. S. Route 522 just south of Berkeley Springs. Permanent ponds have been made by large earthen embankments. One of the ponds covers about one-and-one-half acres and the other about one acre. Work was started 18 month ago.

Soil conservationists here have been hoping that such a flood control program can be developed on the tributaries of George's Creek.

Taylor To Head 'Convention'

Casper R. Taylor Jr., RFD 1, Cumberland, a senior in the University of Notre Dame College of Arts and Letters, will be the chairman of the Mock Democratic National Convention to be held at Notre Dame April 16-18.

The convention is sponsored every election year by the Academy of Political Science, a student organization, of which Taylor is the president.

Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler, a graduate of Notre Dame Law School, will give the principal address to over 2,000 student delegates and alternates from Notre Dame, and nearby St. Mary's College.

Mock Democratic and Republican conventions are held at the University in alternate election years. President Eisenhower was the Mock GOP Convention nominee in 1952.

Lucky Bucks

The "buck" you mail for Easter Seals will be lucky for some crippled child in Allegany County.

Thousands of Allegany countians received Easter Seals in the mail a month ago, and so far approximately $7,000 has been realized from the distribution. Much more is needed, however, to finance treatment of crippled children in this section.

Don't hold back if you have not yet mailed your money for the seals. It's possible that the buck you haven't returned is the dollar that will be needed to reach the goal.

Papers Seeking Old Photos For Special Editions

The Cumberland News and the Cumberland Evening Times will publish "old fashioned" editions April 26, and want an "assist" from their readers.

Last year after similar editions were printed many photographs of old time scenes were offered for publication. Now is the time to bring these photographs to the Times-News office. The older the photograph, the better. The pictures should be of subjects in greater Cumberland area.

The name and address of the owner should be printed in ink on the back of the photographs, which will be returned to the owners.

This is an opportunity to let your neighbors share something of the past from Cumberland. Bring or send your old photographs to the Times-News editorial office not later than April 18.

Hearing To Be Held Today

Hearings on Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company's request for authorization to build some seven miles of new pipeline to supply gas to Cumberland and the new Pittsburgh Plate Glass plant here will be held before the Federal Power Commission today.

The request has not been contested and approval of the $336,000 project is expected within a few weeks, District Manager C. C. Robbins said. Temporary approval has been received and preliminary work, such as clearing the right-of-way is under way.

EPC approval is a necessary legal step required prior to construction of this type, Robbins said.

Over three and one-half miles of the new line will run east from a connection with the Keyser-to-Cumberland supply line west of the C&P railroad tracks to the delivery network here at Federal Street near Lexington Street.

From that point, another three miles of pipe will be laid south along the C&O Canal to the glass plant, the official said. The project also calls for construction of a measuring station on the line near the plant.

Under a construction agreement between Pittsburgh Plate Glass and the gas company, Pittsburgh Plate will pay the cost of the line from Federal Street to the plant. Upon completion, C&A will repay the cost of that section of line over the next few year, Robbins said.

Cumberland residents also will benefit from the first part of the project, he added. The line will have capacity to move larger volumes of gas into the delivery network here.

The pipeline and measuring station can be in operation early this summer, the official said.

Senate Aspirants Barnstorming In Garrett County

Squabble Develops In Baltimore

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

George P. Mahoney and Millard E. Tydings barnstormed Western Maryland in their rival campaigns for the Democratic senatorial nomination yesterday while a new squabble arose among their supporters in Baltimore.

Mahoney, threading his way around Garrett County mountains, ignored a demand that he repudiate tactics used by Hyman A. Pressman, Baltimore lawyer and one of his backers.

R. Bruce Livie, chairman of the Tydings campaign, called upon Mahoney to disassociate himself from an attack by Pressman.

Although Pressman holds no official post in the Mahoney campaign, he represented Mahoney in the court recount stemming from the 1954 gubernatorial campaign and has been active on his behalf in the current fight.

Livie denounced Pressman for distributing envelopes containing powder and labeled "white wash." The device referred to an investigation conducted by a Tydings committee in 1950, shortly before Republican John Marshall Butler defeated him in his bid for a fifth straight term.

When Livie's demand that he repudiate the Pressman action was relayed to him, Mahoney replied:

Says Pressman "Independent"

"Mr. Pressman has been a very independent man. I don't think anyone can dictate to him."

In his hand-shaking trip through Garrett today, Mahoney visited Oakland, Grantsville, McHenry and other communities.

Tydings' trip took him through the southern and western sections of Frederick County.

In Baltimore, Pressman said Livie's reference to "white wash" envelopes as a "scurrilous attack on Mr. Tydings is completely unjustified and constitutes an attempt to put life into Mr. Tydings' lagging campaign."

Pressman added that Tydings "was the first one who brought up the subject of white wash in this campaign." He said the former senator 17 months ago "tried to establish a basis for his candidacy by challenging to meet anyone face to face in debate who accused him of whitewashing the investigation of subversion in the State Department."

"I accepted his challenge but he backed down," said Pressman.

A statement issued in reply by Livie said in part:

"This audacious clown, Pressman, is unworthy to discuss anything in public debate with former Senator Tydings.

Would Like Debate

"Why should Senator Tydings debate with a Mahoney menial? Mr. Tydings, I am sure, would be delighted to debate with Mr. Mahoney on any issue in this campaign. So far, however, Mr. Mahoney has been very careful to avoid any occasion which could lead to a debate and reveal the comparative merits of the two candidates.

"Every time Mr. Mahoney is asked for his views on an issue he says I am sorry I couldn't get there to discuss it, my car broke down."

Mahoney, invited to a League of Women Voters forum for candidates last month, sent a telegram apologizing for his absence and saying he was stranded in Frederick because of automobile trouble.

From Mahoney headquarters in Baltimore today Chairman Michael J. Birmingham announced plans for a $100-a-plate dinner to raise campaign funds. Birmingham said the affair would be known as "The George P. Mahoney Victory Dinner."
